2,000 At Stanford Send Nixon Open Letter

See Involvement As Powder Keg

STANFORD (UPI) — More than 2,000 students, faculty and staff on the riot-torn Stanford University campus sent an open letter to the White House today warning that U. S. involvement in Cambodia may send campus violence "very likely beyond control."

Student demonstrators called a general strike today on the campus, already reeling from a month of disturbances in which dozens of persons have been injured or arrested and damage was estimated at more than $100,000.

Police fired tear gas for the second straight night Thursday and battled rock-throwing militants for hours. Six persons were arrested and 15 injured.

While rocks drummed on the walls outside, the Faculty Senate Thursday night voted unanimously to send a university delegation to confer with congressmen and presidential representatives on Cambodia.

"We who have worked—and will continue to work—to keep tensions from erupting violently on our campus know that our success or failure rests only to a limited extent on our own efforts," the Faculty Senate said.

President Kenneth S. Pitzer sent a telegram to the White House calling the decision to go into Cambodia "a mistake of the gravest kind."

The demonstrators Thursday night smashed windows or damaged 16 buildings, including the campus homes of two administrators, set a car afire and fought off firemen who tried to put out the flames, and surged back and forth across the campus, hurling rocks at police out of the darkness.

Two of those hurt were police officers and among the injured students was Walter M. Shirra, son of the former astronaut. A university spokesman reported Shirra was taken to the Cowell Health Center on the campus where he refused to comment on his part in the fracas.

Shirra was hit with a board in his lower back, but was reported not seriously injured.

He was a member of a "white-armband" group of 200 non-violent students who locked arms and kept militants out of Encina Hall, Probably averting major trouble.

They shouted "peace tonight, strike tomorrow" and "no rocks." Demonstrators shouted back "throw rocks" and broke some windows. But they abandoned plans to invade the building, which houses school records. Instead they went on a vandalism spree around campus.

One car was set afire, about 20 false fire alarms were turned in, and two campus homes of school officials were among rock-throwers' tagets.

But students at heavily-glassed Durand Hall met militants with cameras and bright lights and no rocks were thrown.

Pitzer earlier Thursday called Wednesday's riot, which saw 40 hurt and 16 arrested, the worst in the school's history. Because of the riot and the Cambodian crisis, he said, it was "impossible for us to continue with out daily round of activities."

An open meeting in Frost Amphtheater Thursday night drew 3,500 as President Nixon's Cambodian policy was attacked by speaker after speaker. About 1,000 then turned toward more violent protest while another large group announced plans similar to Pitzer's, but in more militant terms.

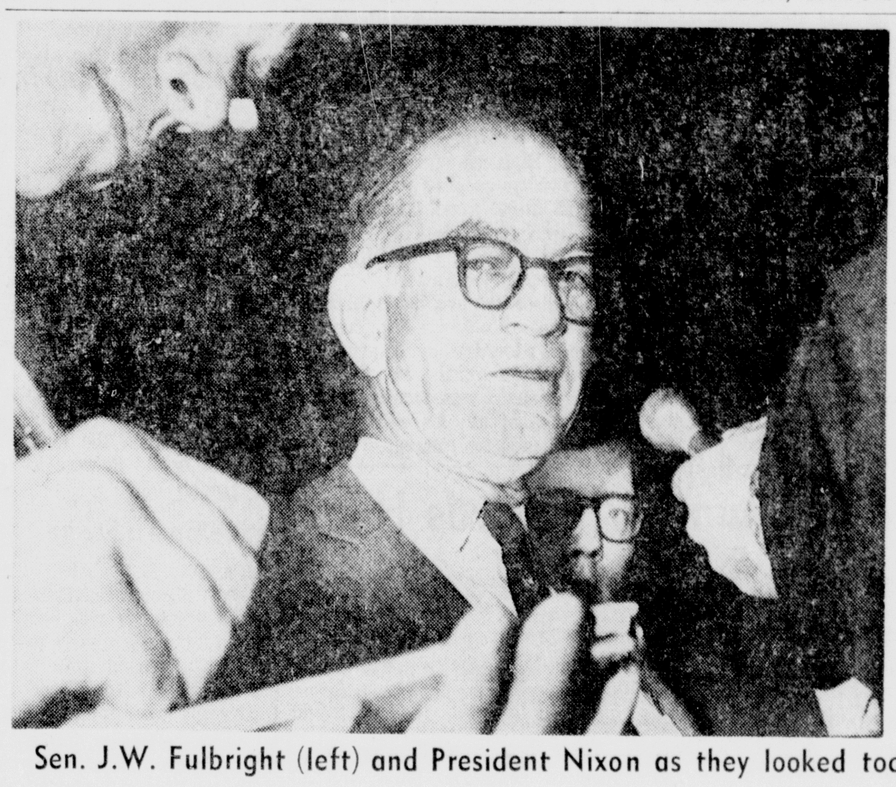

At the University of Pennsylvania, students staged a three-mile march to Independence Hall early today to protest the President's action.

A strike was called at Princeton University after the move was approved Thursday night by more than a third of 3,300 undergraduates.

The strike Now Committee at Rtugers University in New Brunswick, J.J., spent the night painting dozens of posters which festooned dormitories and trees this morning. A spokesman for the committee said Rutgers students will hold a rally to call for a nationwide strike.

Nixon Orders GIs Into Cambodia; Senators Bid Him To A Hearing

Both Parties Voice Extensive Criticism

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee voted unanimously today to request a meeting with President Nixon to discuss the imprications of his decision to order American combat troops into Cambodia.

"We think it is our constitutional responsibility to do so," said Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., calling the President's action "a substantial expansion of the war in Indochina."

The White House said it would have no immediate comment on the committee's action.

Any meeting with Nixon presumably would take place at the White House, although Fulbright said at the Capitol: "If he would like to come here, he would be very welcome."

The President's action, which he called necessary to protect U.S. fighting men already in Vietnam, drew both support and criticism in Congress and throughout the nation.

Politically, some longtime Republican supporters of the Vietnam effort, fearing political disaster for the GOP, have joined Democratic critics of the war in opposing the new move.

Fulbright's committee made its request in a letter which asked for a conference with the President "at his earliest convenience."

Members said it was the first time the committee had made such a request to a president since 1919 when it met with President Woodrow Wilson during the controversy over the League of Nations.

"We felt that a meeting with the President every 50 years was not unreasonable," said Sen. George D. Aiken of Vermont, the senior committee Republican.

Asked if he hoped Nixon could be dissuaded from his course, Fulbright said the committee hoped to convey to the President its view of what he called "these very grave situations."

"We would like to discuss the implications of the action," Fulbright said.

President Tells U.S. Crisis Compels Act

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a stunning turn of policy, President Nixon has launched a surprise offensive by U.S. and South Vietnamese troops against North Vietnamese and Viet Cong sanctuaries in Cambodia.

He declared the assaults wer essntial to American lives, continue his Vietnam troop withdrawal program, and help end the war.

Nixon announced his controversial decision to the nation Thursday in a dramatic televised speech in which he acknowledged it might make him a one-term president but argued the stakes were too high for political considerations.

"Whether I may be a one-term president," he declared, "is insignificant compared to whether by our failure to act in this crisis the United States proves itself to be unworthy to lead the forces of freedom in this critical period."

A White House official said the thrust into Cambodia should last six weeks to two months. Thousands of U.S. and South Vietnamese troops are engaged against an estimated enemy force of 40,000.

Nixon charged the Communists in the last two weeks have been overrunning Cambodia and turning it into a vast springboard for attacks into South Vietnam. He promised that "once enemy forces are driven out of these sanctuaries and their military supplies destroyed, we will withdraw."

In words which seemed to recognize the risks of Russian and Red Chinese counter-actions, however, Nixon said:

"These actions (the strikes into Cambodia) are in no way directed at the security interests of any nation. Any government that chooses to use these actions as a pretext for harming relations with the United States will be doing so on its own responsibility and at its initiative and we will draw the appropriate conclusions."

Thousands Gather To Back Seale

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI) — Thousands of young people gathered to the sounds of rock and jazz bands on New Haven Green today for a May Day rally to back Black Panther leader Bobby Seale. Federal and National Guard troops waited in the wings.

Up to 30,000 demonstrators were anticipated for the series of weekend rallies featuring Abbie Hoffman and David Dellinger, two defendants in the Chicago riot conspiracy trial.

Dellinger and rally organizers kept spreading the word to "keep your cool and not be provoked into violence" but an uneasy feeling cloaked this university city of 150,000.

Nixon Urges U.S. Pray For POWs

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon today declared Sunday a national day of prayer for all American prisoners of war and missing servicemen.

"One of the cruelest tactics of the war in Vietnam is the Communists refusal to identify all prisoners of war, to provide information about them and to permit their families to communicate with them regularly," Nixon said in the proclamation.

8,000 U.S. Troops Sweep Into Cambodia

SAIGON (AP) — About 8,000 U.S. combat troops swept into Cambodia 70 miles northwest of Saigon today and began setting up bases for assaults on the headquarters zone of the supreme Communist command for South Vietnam operations.

It marked the first time in the nine-year-old Vietnam War that an American ground force has extended its operations into Cambodia, at least in force.

About 55 miles to the southwest one of four South Vietnamese task forces that invaded the Parrot's Beak area of Cambodia Wednesday linked up with Cambodian troops defending the provincial capital of Svay Rieng. This force had thrust 30 miles into Cambodia along Highway 1.

Scores of U.S. B52 bombers and nearly 100 artillery pieces blasted the way for the American assault force accompanied by some 2,000 South Vietnamese troops and hundreds of tanks and armored personnel carriers.

Enemy resistance was light and scattered in the area known to the military as the Fishhook, and advance units stabbed 20 miles into Cambodia.

One U.S. C130 cargo plane dropped a 15,000-bomb four miles inside Cambodia to blast away jungle land for the building of a base called Fire Support Base Center.

The mission to set up bases indicated that the Americans plan to stay a while in Cambodia. While initial U.S. Command reports indicated only light ground action, Associated Press photographer Charles Ryan reported from four miles inside Cambodia that American transport helicopters lifting in troops ran into heavy enemy groundfire.

Ryan said a score of helicopters were hit. Pilots told Ryan that five of the helicopters were shot down and crashed.

A crewman told Ryan that

MARIN LAKES GET TROUT AFTER ALL

The on-again, off-again stocking of Marin County lakes for the opening of trout season was to go on today.

Paul Neese, property supervisor for the Marin Municipal Water District said early this afternoon that tank trucks from the California State Department of Fish and Game were on their way to Lagunitas and Phoenix lakes.

The trout will just make it in time for the opening of the general trout season tomorrow.

Earlier this morning, William R. Seeger, general manager of the Marin Municipal Water District said the Department of Fish and Game would not stock the lakes.

Normally it takes a good day for the fish to start biting after being stocked, because the fish are in shock their first few hours after stocking.

Gardiner Seeks Amending Fifth

By MARY LEYDECKER

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of Marin Superior Court ran into tough sledding with his fellow attorneys yesterday with his proposal that the Fifth Amendment be amended so that criminal defendants would have to take the stand in trials.

The members of the Marin County Bar Association finally voted to ask the California Bar Association to study and debate the matter but the local attorneys refused to endorse Gardiner's proposition.

Judge Gardiner gave his reasoning for wanting such a change in the Bill of Rights of the U. S. Constitution at a luncheon meeting of the association at the San Rafael Elks Club.

"I'm concerned with the frustration of people," the judge said. He said that he fears the American people's dissatisfaction with crime and violence will lead to a situation similar to that in Italy and Germany when the fascists came to power.

"People are not going to tolerate much more," he said.

This climate could lead to "whittling away" of protective rights, he said. "Law and order will be produced by hook or crook," according to the judge.

The judge went on to say that the Constitution is "what the Supreme Court says it is," and that he would rather amend the Constitution directly than in a piecemeal manner.

He contended that the present interpretation of the Fifth Amendment, which includes the right of a defendant to remain silent during a trial, is being misused by criminals.

The original intent of the amendment was to prevent "torture processes" and "third degree confessions," the judge contended, and not to allow defendants to refuse to testify at trials.

The judge maintained that the public has the right to ask a defendant, in open court with public and press present, aided by counsel and presided over by a judge, to "explain his actions."

Mixed Reactions To Nixon Decision

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China and North Vietnam accused President Nixon today of expanding the Vietnam war to all Indochina. The Japanese government called the American march in to Cambodia "unavoidable," the South Korean government approved it, and Indonesian Foreign Minister Adam Malik expressed regret.

Peking and Hanoi reacted quickly to Nixon's announcement Thursday night that he was sending U.S. combat troops into Cambodia for the first time.

A Chinese broadcast said "the Nixon administration's criminal scheme" proves that "the U.S. imperialists are the most vicious enemy of the Indochinese people" and means that the United States "is expanding its aggressive war in Vietnam and Laos" throughout the Indochinese peninsula.

Hanoi Radio said Nixon's announcement was an "insolent declaration of his dark and vile intention of expanding the war to all of Indochina."

Japanese Premier Eisaku Sato and Foreign Minister Kiichi Aichi agreed that American intervention in Cambodia was "an unavoidable step." Aichi said he would send an envoy to Cambodia for an on-the-spot report.

South Korean Foreign Minister Choi Kyu-hah said his government welcomes Nixon's decision, "not only to contribute to the security of the allied forces in Vietnam" but also to help protect South Vietnam and Cambodia from "Communist aggression," Choi said.

But Indonesian Foreign Minister Adam Malik said the American march across the border "will not help speed up finding a solution to the crisis in Cambodia" and will jeopardize the Asian and Pacific conference he is arranging to seek peace in Cambodia.

Laotian Premier Souvanna Phouma called the President's decision "an act of courage in politics," saying Nixon "prefers to sacrifice his chance for a second term in the White House than to sacrifice the lives of thousands of brave American men fighting for freedom in South Vietnam."

A high-ranking Chinese Nationalist official on Formosa called the push into Cambodia good news and said he believes Nixon's Asian policy "has entirely changed." President Ferdinand Marcos of the Philippines had no immediate comment, but Jose Roy, chairman of the Philiippine Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said it was "good news" to his country because Manila is "deeply concerned with saving Southeast Asia from communism."

"This is clearly a military solution to the war, one we've advocated for a long time," said one high-ranking U.S. officer. An important South Vietnamese official said almost gleefully: "Now we are going to smash COSVN (the Communist Command). The Communists are certainly going to holler about that."

"I can't make any sense out of it," said Pfc. Ronald Hinton, 20, of Denver, Colo. "We've got this war in Vietnam and all the trouble back home and now to send troops into Cambodia—well, the thin population back in the world is going to be none if we keep fighting over here. The President says we will withdraw from Cambodia? I'll believe it when I see it."

Spec. 4 James Cungie, 22, of Los Angeles, a helicopter door gunner with the 101st Airborne Division, said: "The fact that we're going into Combodia doesn't bother me because we'll be fighting the same people we're fighting in Vietnam. But saying that we'll withdraw from Cambodia when we've cleared them out of there is like saying wer'e staying in Vietnam until all the enemy is gone.

"Vietnam started out that way. I think it's worth the risk of deeper involvement, but damn, I don't know how we're going to solve all these problems."

INGER STEVENS
Barbiturates victim

Swedish-Born Star Inger Stevens Dies

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Inger Stevens, a blonde Swedish-born actress who often complained of loneliness despite a busy career and frequent dating, is dead at 36.

The talented star, clad in a negligee, was found on the kitchen floor of her ranch-style Hollywood Hills home Thursday by her longtime friend and secretary, Lola McNally. Coroner Thomas Noguchi said death was caused by acute intoxication from barbiturates, a common ingredient of sleeping pills.

DISCOVERY TOLD

Miss McNally, who lives in the Stevens home but was away for the night, said she talked with the actress by telephone Wednesday night and all seemed well. But upon receiving no answer to a call Thursday morning, she went to the home.

Miss Stevens, she said, opened her eyes and tried to speak, but couldn't.

She was pronounced dead en route to a hospital in an ambulance.

Miss Stevens, a native of Stockholm, came to the United States with her parents at the age of 13. She got to Hollywood in 1956 and found almost instant acclaim. Yet in 1959 she tried to take her own life by swallowing a poisonous cleaning fluid in a New York apartment.

'SO LONELY'

She explained at the time: "Sometimes I get so lonely I could scream."

Miss Stevens was the star for three years of the television series, "The Farmer's Daughter."

She was divorced from New York theatrical agent Anthony Soglio on July 17, 1957, and never remarried. There were no children.

Her movies included "The Long Ride Home," "Firecreek," "A Guide to the Married Man," "House of Cards," "Five Card Stud" and the recent "A Dream of Kings."

She spoke not long ago of retiring and devoting her life to retarded children.

Student Chiefs Quell Ohio State Troubles

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The authorities decided to let student leaders try to stop disorders at Ohio State University, and within a few hours peace was restored.

"They really gave us a big assist," National Guard Col. James Folk said of about 150 student marshals who patrolled the campus, calming down youths and dispersing crowds Thursday evening.

He gave them "full credit" for quieting the campus, where student rioting Wednesday night and Thursday morning injured scores, resulted in 500 arrests and left widespread damage.

About 1,800 National Guard troops and large concentrations of city police and Ohio highway patrol officers remained in the university area today, but only a few scattered incidents were reported.

A group of student assembly members, headed by Tim Sheeran, student body president, received permission from authorities Thursday afternoon to appoint marshals to assist authorities in restoring order.

As word of the agreement was passed around the campus, sporadic clashes between students and police began to taper off.

"The marshals were very effective," said Sheeran. "They were permitted to talk with students and crowds so that they could let off steam verbally instead of physically."

Meanwhile, University and Grant hospitals reported they had treated 139 persons, mostly for cuts, bruises and tear gas burns. Eighteen persons received minor gunshot wounds.

Of about 500 persons arrested, most were students. They have been suspended by University President Novice Fawcett.

The disorders evolved from a somewhat disorganized student strike Wednesday by a group supporting demands for more black students and faculty and severence of all ties with war research and the military.

Napa County Vineyards Hit Hardest By April Freezing

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—About half of the wine grape crop in the Napa Valley suffered serious frost damage this week, the State Agriculture Department reported today.

It said the Napa Valley crop was the hardest hit by subfreezing temperatures which occurred in Northern California Monday and Tuesday mornings.

Serious frost damage also was reported in Napa Valley prunes and walnuts, with "somewhat lighter" losses in pears.

But throughout the rest of the north state, the department said, crop losses due to frost were light.

There was some damage to Bartlett pears in Lake and Mendocino counties, apples in Sonoma and El Dorado counties and cannery tomatoes, tokay grapes and several other fruit crops in the Northern San Joaquin Valley.

The California Tomato Growers Association in Stockton said damage to the tomato crop was "spotty."

Light damage also was reported in Butte County almonds and walnuts and Yolo County prunes and apricots.

Free Lunch Bill Goes To House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has approved a bill extending free or low price school lunches to more than 8 million school children from poor families.

Passed in an unrecorded voice vote, the measure also authorizes funding a pilot school breakfast program at $25 million a year—$13 million above the Nixon administration request.

The bill, approved Thursday, now goes to the House, where approval is expected, and then to the President.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Tank's History

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — An oxygen tank which exploded on Apollo 13 had a history of having been dropped, switched from Apollo 10 and of not meeting planned specifications, officials of North American Rockwell Corp. say.

The firm was the prime contractor for the service module, where the tank was installed, and the command module.

The officials said Thursday the tank satisfactorily passed 19 major tests during its three-year history and that none of the events in its past could be pinpointed as a cause of explosion.

The tank and another were removed from Apollo 10 for modification, adding heavier insulation wires powering a vacuum pump. To keep Apollo 10 on schedule, the tanks from Apollo 13's service module, which already had been modified, were installed in Apollo 10.

After modification, the tanks originally in Apollo 10 were installed in Apollo 13.

Princeton To Strike

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Some 2,300 Princeton University students and faculty members voted by a 2-1 margin early today to stage a general strike to protest President Nixon's sending U.S. troops into Cambodia.

The strike, effective immediately, cancels Houseparties Weekend, the biggest social event on the university's calendar, which was scheduled to start tonight. Students also asked other universities to stage a nationwide strike.

An overflow crowd in Chapel Hall approved a four-point resolution which included the strike call plus demands for university officials to publicly state their opposition to war in Southeast Asia, an end to the Reserve Officer Training Cirps, and an end to Princeton's connections with the Defense Department.

Worldwide Synod?

BUCK HILLS FALL, Pa. (AP) —A Roman Catholic leader foresees a worldwide synod representing all Christian denominations as necessary to draw them into common mission, renewal and ultimate reunion.

That possibility was cited at an ecumenical meeting along with disclosure that a study report is due soon on means by which Roman Catholicism might become a part of the World Council of Churches.

The Rev. Thomas Stransky, for eight years a member of the Vatican's Administrative Curia, said the slowness of deliberation on the matter shows the significance that Roman Catholicism sees in such a step.

The council is a cooperative body of 230 Protestant, Eastern Orthodox and Anglican denominations, with about 350 million members.

Bears In Park Spur Funds Plea

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The National Park Service has asked Congress to give it $139,000—and $76,000 a year thereafter—so it can "bear proof" Yellowstone National Park.

The park service, in congressional testimony released Thursday, said that may seem like a lot of money—$700 per bear for the 250 to 300 Yellowstone bruins—but it said the cost is small compared with damage suits from bear-injured park visitors.

The money would go for fences and other equipment at garbage dumps, plus employes to make sure garbage does not invite bear picnics.

Lampoon's Choices

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — The Harvard Lampoon has chosen Peter and Jane Fonda for its worst actor and worst actress of 1969 awards.

Unable to decide which was the worst movie of the year, it came up with a package of ten.

"We just lumped them together as Worst 10," a spokesman for the humor magazine said Thursday, "because we couldn't pick the worst."

In the package were "Easy Rider," "Medium Cool," "Putney Swope," 'Topaz," "Bob and Carol and Ted and Alice," "The Maltese Bippy," "True Grit," "John and Mary," "Hello Dolly!" and "Last Summer."

Miss Fonda won the Lampoon's award for worst actress "for 'Spirits of the Dead' and for marrying Roger Vadim."

Johnson To Speak

CHICAGO (AP) — Former President Lyndon B. Johnson will address a Democratic party fund-raising dinner in Chicago tonight, his first public address since leaving office in January 1969.

There was no indication of the subject matter of the former president's speech.

Johnson's last appearance in Chicago was two years ago, a day after he addressed the nation on television and declared he would not seek the presidency in the 1968 election.

Johnson was scheduled to return to his Texas ranch following tonight's dinner. Some 5,000 persons were expected to attend the $100-a-plate affair.

Ecological Key: Space Science

Space science may be the key to solving the problems of man's environment, according to former Apollo space executive Edward B .Lindaman.

Speaking before nearly 300 people last night at the T.V. Moore Lecture Series at San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo, Lindaman said the time had come for man to make some small 'midcourse corrections' in both his social and ecological environments.

"This is the 'time between,'" he said. The choices we make now will be very profound as we step into the space age. We're playing around with some very big things, and we better be careful.

"Space technology," according to the former director of program planning of North American Rockwell Corp., "will enable us to get outside our immediate environment and to look at ourselves from a different perspective. It's like living in a fishbowl all your life, and then suddenly being pulled out of the bowl. When you return, that bowl can never be the same."

"This will be the first colony of the world," he said. "Up until this time, we have known only national colonies."

He predicted also that space technology will be used to help clean up our ecological environment, as surveillance satellites circle the globe pinpointing polluters. Already, he said, such a satellite had discovered a tanker dumping oil into the ocean ouside of Los Angeles.

But space technology is more than just accomplishing specific deeds, Lindaman said. It will create a whole new attitude of exploration among men around the world, he predicted.

"We are the last generation to be imprisoned on this Earth," he said. "We have to acknowledge that we are peasants on planet Earth and will be changed as much as peasants hundreds of years ago when ships first sailed the seas. . .We recognize that our future and destiny are no longer Earthbound. . .that we no longer have to wait for natural progressions to change our destiny."

Lindaman also explained that this increased power over man's own destiny and increased knowledge about his planet and his solar system would lead to a greater knowledge about himself. All dimensions would change and man's mind and spirit would expand in the room he allows them to operate.

"It's a new declaration of independence," he said, "an independence from the Earth and a psychological independence from confirming limits of our minds."

Lindaman is the author of a book entitled "Space: A New Direction for Mankind," and a lecturer.

Builders Park Gets A Reprieve

The Terra Linda Recreation and Park District board has decided to keep its "builders park" at Munson Park open, but has expressed a need for volunteer staffers.

The board has also approved several new programs which will start in May. These include charm and self-improvement courses, cake decorating class, a "slim-trim" class, summer day camp, and baby-sitting program for mothers swimming at the community center.

At its meeting Monday night, the board also agreed to publicize the summer recreation program with a one-page ad in the Terra Linda news, discussed plans for a mortgage burning party June 20, and approved a summer movie series on Thursdays at 7:30 p.m. beginning in June.

Innocent Plea In Campus Shooting

Judge A. F. Scheidecker released Anderson on his own recognized and scheduled a preliminary hearing for May 15 at 1:30 p.m.

Stovall, who was shot in the right shoulder and right hand, was reported in satisfactory condition at Community Hospital of Sonoma County.

Shone Backers Slate Trail Ride

The committee to elect Ray Shone to the state senate will sponsor a trail ride over Marin Municipal Water District land on the north side of Mount Tamalpais Sunday, the proceeds to benefit Shones' campaign.

Riders will leave the Girl Scout camp on Bolinas Road, Fairfax at 9:30 a.m. and return to Dr. Leo L. Stanley's Crest Farms, also on Bolinas Road, at about 1:30 p.m. for a barbecued steak dinner.

Reservations and further information are available from Mrs. Mario Ghilotti, San Geronimo-Nicasio Road, Nicasio.

Legal Firm Launches Judgeship Poll

A San Rafael legal firm, uncommitted to any of the candidates, has undertaken to poll Marin lawyers on their opinions of the qualifications of the 13 aspirants for the Marin Municipal Court vacancy.

The poll was announced today by William G. Corrigan of the firm of Bagshaw, Martinelli, Corrigan and Jordan. He said no member of the firm has endorsed any candidate, so it appeared to be in a position to conduct an unbiased poll. Format of the question to be circulated to all attorneys practicing in Marin County will be worked out during the weekend by Corrigan and Roderick P. Martinelli, another partner in the firm.

Corrigan said the partners have been "deeply disturbed over the lack of qualifications of certain individuals who are running for judgeship."

"Those of us who practice in Marin County desire to obtain the most qualified individuals as judges to make certain that our clients and the public receive justice," he said. "Whether or not we like an individual is immaterial, as long as thati ndividual reats the attorneys and the public fairly, impartially and in accord with the highest of judicial ability."

Lawyers who have been practicing in Marin courts "are in the best position to determine objectivity, the ability to interpret, and the dignity required for the judiciary," said Corrigan. He said the poll will attempt to avoid being "merely a popularity contest" by the framing of the question or questions.

After 13 attorneys had filed notices of intention to run for the court vacancy, some directors of the Marin County Bar Association proposed that it screen the candidates in an attempt to limit the field to four or five.

Said Corrigan in announcing the plan for a pool of attorneys: "We recognize that the Independent-Journal by editorial opposed a plebiscite by the Marin County Bar Association. This we can understand, in that we personally believe that any individual who believes he has the judicial qualifications should have the right to become a candidate."

However, he said: "The die has now been cast and the candidates are listed and the members of the bar association should at this time as a public service communicate to the public their opinions as to the judicial qualifications of each candidate."

Rec Department Now In Courthouse

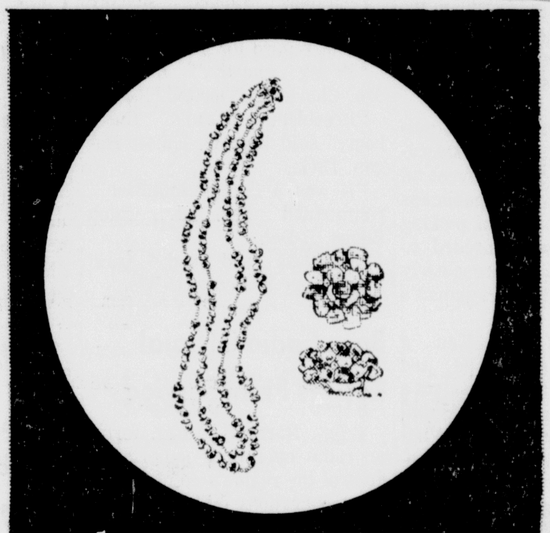

The San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department officially moved its activities program into the old courthouse annex yesterday.

Activities had been conducted from the community recreation center at Second and Brooks streets, but the city reached agreement with the county for use of the vacant annex earlier this month.

Nixon Tells U.S. Of Crisis In Cambodia

ately before the speech. There was no evidence they had been consulted before the decision was made.

Nor was there any evidence that U.S. allies, other than South Vietnam, had been consulted. Informed officials said Premier Lon Nol of Cambodia, who had asked Nixon for arms and military supplies, had not asked for U.S. troops. In fact, Cambodian officials said the U.S. action would be protested.

Nixon himself said one Republican senator has told him the Republican party had now lost all chance of winning the November elections and that others were saying he would be a one-term president.

The President announced his fateful decision in these words:

"In cooperation with the armed forces of South Vietnam, attacks are being launched this week to clean out major enemy sanctuaries on the Cambodian-Vietnam border."

The first attack started and had already been announced Wednesday. It was an offensive by South Vietnamese forces, with U.S. air and logistical support and about 100 American advisers, into a projection of Cambodian territory, known as "the Parrot's Beak," that reaches to about 35 miles from Saigon.

It was the second attack Nixon announced as starting Thursday night, Washington time, which carried the wallop of massive surprise.

"Tonight, American and South Vietnamese units will attack the headquarters for the entire Communist military operation in South Vietnam. This key control center has been occupied by the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong for years in blatant violation of Cambodia's neutrality."

The area is known as "the fishhook" because of twists in the Cambodian-South Vietnamese border. It is about 50 miles from Saigon and northeast of "the Parrot's Beak." It has been known for several years as the site of Hanoi's "Central Office for South Vietnam"—COSVN—a large command and supply complex.

"This is not an invasion of Cambodia," Nixon said in apparent anticipation of dispute over whether he was violating Cambodia's territory and neutrality.

"The areas in which these attacks will be launched are completely occupied and controlled by North Vietnamese forces. Our purpose is not to occupy the areas. Once enemy forces are driven out of these sanctuaries and their military supplies destroyed, we will withdraw."

Nixon said that in the last two weeks enemy forces had begun spreading out from their border sanctuaries into other areas of Cambodia "and stripped away all pretense of respecting the sovereignty or neutrality of Cambodia." He declared they also were massing forces for attacks into South Vietnam against U.S. and allied troops.

Nixon said he had three options in dealing with the new situation in Cambodia and the Communist troop buildup.

One was to do nothing, which he said would have jeopardized American troops remaining in South Vietnam after the next withdrawal .

The second choice was to give massive aid to Lon Nol's army, but he said the Cambodians could not use it quickly and effectively .But he announced that together with other notions he did not name the U.S. would supply small arms and other equipment which "the Cambodian army needs and can use now for its defense."

"Our third choice is to go to the heart of the trouble," Nixon said. "That means cleaning out major North Vietnamese and Viet Cong occupied sanctuaries which serve as bases for attacks on both Cambodia and American and South Vietnamese forces in South Vietnam.

"Some of these are as close to Saigon as Baltimore is to Washington"—38 miles.

He then assailed Communist conduct in Vietnam peace negotiations in language suggesting he feels a military offensive, breaking with the essentially defensive strategy the United States has followed for months, was the only option he had to try to compel the enemy to negotiate seriously.

He said the United States had stopped the bombing of North Vietnam, cut air operations elsewhere 20 per cent, started withdrawing troops and made a variety of peace efforts.

"Their answer has been intransigence at the conference table, belligerence in Hanoi, massive military aggression in Laos and Cambodia, and stepped-up attacks in South Vietnam, designed to increase American casualties.

"Their attitude has become intolerable. We will not react to this threat to American lives merely by plaintive diplomatic protests. If we did the credibility of the United States would be destroyed in every area of the world where only the power of the United States deters aggression . . . .

"This action (the offensive into the Cambodian sanctuaries) puts the leaders of North Vietnam on notice that we will be patient in working for peace, we will be conciliatory at the conference table, but we will not be humiliated. We will not be defeated."

one pilot was shot in the head while flying his helicopter at tree-top level, and the aircraft immediately crashed. A radio transmission said the pilot was killed, but the U.S. Command in Saigon said it could not confirm this.

If confirmed, it would mark the first American serviceman killed in an offensive operation on Cambodian soil.

The U.S. Command said that by dusk Friday, 99 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops had been killed, most of them by helicopter gunships, and one supply truck destroyed.

Initial reports from the U.S. Command said six Americans were wounded.

Sources said the operation, the biggest in nearly three years, is aimed at smashing North Vietnamese and Viet Cong supply lines, communications networks and storage and staging areas used for attacks into South Vietnam.

The other three South Vietnamese forces were sweeping the Parrot's Beak area for enemy base camps. A total of 15,000 South Vietnamese troops were in the four forces, and about 100 advisers were the only Americans with them. But American bombers, helicopter gunships and artillery were supporting them.

The South Vietnamese military command reported 406 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops killed in the Parrot's Beak, 56 less than claimed earlier, and said 84 government troops were killed and 168 wounded, including 55 wounded accidentally by American helicopter gunships. Three Americans also were reported wounded.

The U.S. Command also has a report that 106 persons had been detained, but spokesmen said did not know whether they were Cambodians or iVetnamese.

The offensive launched today was under the command of Brig. Gen. Robert M. Shoemaker, assistant commander of the 1st Air Cav. His task force included four U.S. maneuver battalions, three South Vietnamese airborne battalions, the U.S. 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment and a South Vietnamese armored regiment.

Associated Press correspondent Jay Sharbutt reported from the command post at Quan Loi, in South Vietnam, that a three-prong thrust was under way from Route 7 to seal off a triangular area running 20 miles east to west and 12 miles southeast to northwest.

The operation plan called for infantrymen to sweep through the region, perhaps taking as long as six weeks to two months to destroy whatever North Vietnamese and Viet Cong base camps they find.

Their main target was the jungle command post for all Communist military and political operations in South Vietnam, known as the Central Office for South Vietnam, or COSVN. But COSVN is a mobile command post, and senior South Vietnamese officers said it had moved deeper into Cambodia several days ago, apparently in anticipation of the American offensive.

The offensive began at 7:30 a.m. Saigon time, an hour and a half before President Nixon went on the air to announce the advance of American combat troops into Cambodia.

JUDGE

He added that no other country in the world gives criminals the right not to testify.

After the judge concluded his arguments, the attorneys present began a confused discussion about whether to recommend this measure to the state bar association, whether to ask just debate on the subject or whether to turn it down.

Attorney John Rockwell said that he could not go along with Gardiner's ideas, because "you don't preserve liberties by taking away liberties."

Furthermore, Rockwell said, taking away a defendant's right to remain silent would shift the burden of proof in criminal cases to the defense instead of the prosecution as is traditional in Anglo-Saxon jurisprudence.

"This would destroy the presumption of innocence," he said.

Other attorneys present asked how such a change would cut down the crime rate.

Finally, the lawyers voted to ask the state bar to study the matter by a vote of 21 to 17 but refused by a larger margin, to endorse the proposal.

Fulbright Committee Wants To See Nixon said: "I think we must seek an understanding between the elected representatives of the people and the President of the United States."

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield told the Senate that he respects Nixon's decision "even as I regret it and am deeply concerned by it."

Calling it "an ill-advised adventure," Mansfield said he hopes the action will reduce U.S. casualties and hasten the end of the war, but commented: "There is nothing in past experience in Indochina that suggests that casualties can be reduced by enlarging the area of military operations."

Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo., a longtime supporter of the U.S. course in Vietnam, issued a statement calling Nixon's decision "a very troubling one and a very sobering one at the same time.

McGee told reporters "I support the President's decision in terms of the difficult bind we find ourselves in."

Republican National Chairman Rogers C. B. Morton said in a statement he believes the American people "will realize that, while some may play politics with the lives of our men and the freedom of those we are pledged to defend, the President has done a simple and magnificent thing: he has kept a promise . . . to take strong and effective action against increased enemy action."

Although Nixon's speech drew some bipartisan support, the overwhelming tone Thursday night was critical—especially at a Capitol briefing at which Undersecretary of State Elliott Richardson and Deputy Secretary of Defense David R. Packard told senators of Nixon's decision.

While Nixon said he was putting aside political considerations to take steps to prevent an American defeat, Republicans who held high hopes of picking up the seven seats needed to control the Senate were clearly stunned by the President's speech.

Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., a strong Nixon man who just hours before the President's speech had defended the administration's support of South Vietnamese operations into Cambodia, said he was troubled by the commitment of American troops.

"There is no doubt in my mind the public reaction is going to be adverse," Dole told reporters. "I just can't see anything but an increase in wounded, killed, and this will cause a sharp downturn in support of the President's policies."

Likewise, Sen. Peter Dominick, R-Colo., a member of the Armed Services Committee who had declared support of earlier operations into Cambodia by South Vietnamese troops, said he thought "it's going to be very hard to get" support for Nixon's dispatch of ground troops.

However, Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., who earlier in the day told Seattle, Wash., University students he opposes use of U.S. ground troops in Cambodia, said after the speech Nixon's decision could be "a turning point." But, the 1964 GOP presidential candidate added, he would have gone "much further than the President did."

"I would give them 15 days to make peace or make Haiphong harbor a mud puddle," Goldwater said in Lacey, Wash.

Key lawmakers backing Nixon included Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Armed Services Committee; Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, Assistant GOP Leader Robert P. Griffin of Michigan and House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan.

"There has never been a time when it is more important to hold one's emotional fire and to trust the President who alone has all the facts," said Scott.

But Sens. Edmund S. Muskie of Manne and George S. McGovern of South Dakota were sharply critical.

Muskie found the action "irreconcilable" with Nixon's prophecy in his Vietnam speech 10 days ago that a just peace is in sight. McGovern said, "This is not the formula for saving American lives, this is the formula for a bigger and bloodier war."

Sen. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon, a GOP war critic who based support of Nixon for the presidency on hopes he would end the war, left the briefing shaking his head. "Unbelievable," he exclaimed.

Senator Aiken, dean of Senate Republicans, reported that the mood was "somber" at the White House when Nixon informed congressional leaders of his decision.

"If his strategy is successful and we are able to bring the war to an earlier conclusion and have less losses of our men," Aiken said, "then we will have to call him a hero—as he would be."

While the leadership was at the White House, 13 other senators were at the Capitol briefing. Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said Richardson and Packard made clear that Cambodia has not invited American intervention or asked for U.S. combat troops.

For the first time in history, the Wisconsin Democrat said, Congress may force the President to reverse his course and withdraw from Cambodia.

"Reckless and sad," said Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis.

ENDS WORLD VOYAGE — A five-year odyssey ends with a kiss from his wife, Patti, as Robin Graham, 21, arrived yesterday at Long Beach Marina at the end of an around-the-world sailing voyage he began at 16. Graham made the voyage solo most of the way until he reached Australia and married Patti, who flew ahead to meet him. (UPI Telephoto)

SOLO SAILING TRIP

Five-Year Odyssey Ends With A Kiss

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — "I don't like being by myself," mused 21-year-old Robin Lee Graham—having spent 57 months and 33,000 miles being just that to become the youngest person to sail solo around the world.

His 33-foot sloop, The Return of the Dove, the second of two boats he used on his long journey, eased into Long Beach Marina Thursday. Graham stepped ashore into the arms of Patti, 22, the wife he won on the other side of the globe.

"A nice hot bath," was his first fervent wish. "All I know is I'm glad to be home. It's better than being out there."

Out there was Honolulu, Samoa, Tonga, Fiji—where he met Patti, a California girl on a tour—the Solomon Islands, Australia, South Africa—where he married her seven months later—South America, the Caribbean, through the Panama Canal to the Galapagos Islands and, starting March 5, the final 3,600 miles home.

Graham quit high school to make the voyage and had planned to continue his education through a correspondence course, but he was a bit busy. "There was too much to do aboard the boat to do much studying," he said, "but I did read a lot."

One of the things which kept him away from his books was his original boat, the 24-foot Dove, provided by his parents, which leaked badly and had two broken masts after being battered by storms. He replaced it midway through the journey.

"You have bad days and good," he said of his adventures. "You remember the bad days."

Now, he said, "I'll go back to school. I may pick up some sort of technical trade."

Patti joined her husband at various points along his route but didn't sail with him because "he started alone and he wanted to finish alone."

How did it feel to be home?

"Tired."

F111 Fails Early On Aging Tests

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force says an F111 aircraft wing undergoing stress tests in San Diego, Calif., cracked at a point equivalent to 7½ years of service.

"While it did not reach the desired maximum simulated service life," the Thursday announcement said, "the test did prove that the aircraft has many years of use during which a fix can be devised."

The Air Force said the crack occurred after slightly more than 3,000 hours of testing out of the 4,000 hours required.

The Air Force said it and General Dynamics Corp., which is performing the tests, will continue tests and analysis in an attempt to determine the origin of the problem.

Congress Blacks Challenge G.M.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Five Negro House members have endorsed a consumer group's campaign challenging General Motors Corp. to be more responsive to the public.

The lawmakers said that out of 13,000 General Motors dealerships, only seven blacks hold franchises and, they added, in the corporation itself there are few blacks at the management level.

The five specifically urged other Negro elected officials to "examine the stance taken by the Campaign to Make General Motors Responsible" and to join in if they consider it valuable.

The representatives, all Democrats, are Shirley Chisholm of New York, William Clay, Mo., Charles Diggs, Mich., Augustus Hawkins, Calif., and Louis Stokes, Ohio.

Embezzlement Case Hearing Scheduled

A preliminary hearing has been set for Tuesday in Marin Municipal Court for Gilbert Warren Justin, 49, of no known address, who is accused of embezzlement.

Justin is charged with keeping a car he had rented from Ward's car rental in Corte Madera until April 22 when it was supposed to be returned on April 8.

Probation, Fine In Drug Case

Brian George King, 20, of Mill Valley has been placed on two years' probation by Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Superior Court and fined $500 for marijuana possession.

He also gave the youth a suspended 90-day jail sentence.

King, who was already on probation for another marijuana violation, pleaded guilty in March to a reduced charge of possessing pot. He had originally been charged with selling it.

Residents On Lucky Drive Reject Annexation Plan

Property owners on Lucky Drive who have long sought annexation to the Corte Madera Sanitary District but have been divided on their stand on required simultaneous annexation to the town have turned down annexation at the polls.

They voted 11 to 8 against annexing to the Town of Corte Madera a 7.9 acres area west of Highway 101 and south of the Corte Madera Creek in a special election Tuesday.

This week's election was called by the town council in March following a public hearing on the issue when no one appeared to protest the proposed annexation.

Controversy over annexation started last October when a group of Lucky Drive residents, opposing annexation to the town, submitted a petition to the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission asking for annexation solely to the sanitary district.

The commission unanimously ruled that the area to have district service should annex to the town.

The following month another group of property owners started another petition asking for annexation to the town so that a sewer could be provided in the area.

In December the town council, meeting as the sanitary district board, passed a resolution agreeing with the agency commission, that Lucky Drive must annex to the town to obtain sanitary service.

Following the March public hearing, the election was automatically slated, Usher said.

Annexation to the sanitary district automatically died for a year with the outcome of the election, Usher said.

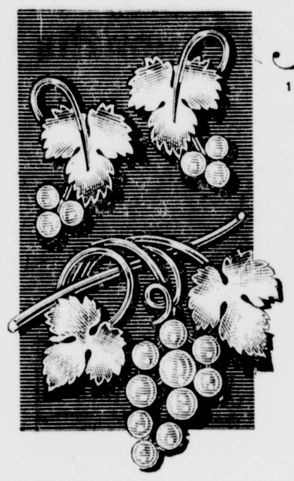

Agency Questions Late Bill Mailings

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Federal Trade Commission says businesses which mail bills to their customers several weeks or days after the billing date on the statement may be violating the Truth in Lending Law.

The commission said the result of such a "shrinking billing period" is to increase the customers' chances of having to pay finance charges—if the customer fails to pay within the alloted time period which begins when the bill is dated, not when it is received.

New ORTHO® 3-Way Rose and Flower Care is a fertilizer, a systemic insecticide and an effective weed killer, all in the same cannister.

The systemic action means that all you do is sprinkle the granules around the base of your plant, work into the soil and water. Your flowers absorb the fertilizer to make them healthier and more beautiful. And they also absorb the insecticide through the roots to protect them from the inside out. Flowers grow strong and big. And aphids, mites and sucking insects that come to feed, die. Food and protection. For up to six weeks. Inside, where it can't wash away. And at the same time, the weed killer will be at work in the soil at the base of the plant, killing weeds as they germinate.

This whole health plan costs only pennies a plant. The five-pound Cannister is only $3.49.

Your flowers will love you for it.

Guard Captain, Cash Reported As Missing

Missing today were the captain of the Nor-Cal Guards employed at the Independent-Journal plant in San Rafael and more than $18,000 belonging to his employer, according to San Rafael police.

Forrest Jerrold Morais, 34, has not been seen since he failed to show up for work on March 27, Inspector Gerald Souza said today.

Robert Borissoff, owner of the Nor Cal firm, told Souza that he was short the money he had given Morais on several occasions for payrolls, uniforms and such equipment as closed circuit television cameras.

Souza said that according to Borrissoff's business arrangement with Morais, the latter managed a Sacramento office of the firm on a somewhat independent basis. When the I-J hired the firm in January to protect the plant, Morais brought his crew of guards to San Rafael.

He was given checks by Borissoff to pay the employees but apparently pocketed funds which should have been reserved for withholding taxes. He also apparently cashed checks which were made out to firms supplying uniforms and other supplies including over $10,000 of television equipment.

Souza said that the house in Novato at 459 Via Herbosa, which Morais and his wife, Jane, rented about two weeks before his disappearance has been stripped. Neighbors have reported seeing a moving van arrive late one afternoon, according to Souza. Efforts to trace the van have been unsuccessful.

A check on Morais's background led to the information that he had two revoked driver's licenses under different names, Souza said, and that he had been arrested in Texas for burglary.

It is rumored that Morais, who is described as a tall, dark-haired man of Portuguese and Negro ancestry, and his small, blonde wife may have gone to Brazil, Souza said.

The inspector said that he plans to go to the district attorney's office next week to ask that a warrant be issued for his arrest.

Morais has already been charged with battery against a picket at the I-J and was set to be tried on Aug. 3 in Marin Municipal Court.

Over $100,000 Haul In Motel Drug Raid

Drug agents armed with a search warrant yesterday raided a room at the Bermuda Palms Motel in San Rafael and confiscated prescription-type drugs and narcotics valued at over $100,000 on the illegal market.

Booked into Marin County Jail were the occupants of the room, Sally Baker, 24, who is also known as Gail Fleming, and Steven Glen Baker, 20. They were arrested on suspicion of possessing narcotics and dangerous drugs and possessing them for sale.

Neither had posted the $12,500 bail which had been set and were to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Agents said they found narcotics such as opium and morphine, thousands of amphetamine pills, sleeping pills and close to 100 needles and syringes.

An agent said that the room had been under surveilance for about a week after an unusual amount of traffic had been seen going there. He thought that the couple had been living there since February.

In addition to the drugs and narcotics, which were in bottles and vials bearing the labels of numerous Bay Area drug stores were other articles including television sets, stereo sets, cameras, and radios plus burglary tools and about $1,000 in cash.

The agent said that Baker had about 100 fresh needle marks on his arms and legs and that the woman had a few.

Citizens Help Sought On Bonds

A citizens advisory committee will be recruited by the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Commission to work for the passage of the recreation center $558,000 bond issue, the commission decided at a special meeting last night.

Discussion of plans for the bond issue campaign stressed the need for funds and the short time left until the June 2 vote, Andrew J. Snyder, director of parks and recreation, reported today.

Snyder said the commission will meet again next week, but the date has not been set yet.

Attempt Made To Enter Home

Police said John Paul Demshar, 21, of Rock Springs, appeared at the home of Stephanie Von Buchau at 607 Magnolia Avenue shortly before 1 a.m. and began pounding on the door. Hysterical, Mrs. Von Buchau telephoned Corte Madera authorities, who notified Larkspur police.

Officers said they found Demshar lying on the doorstep where he had collapsed after kicking in the door. He was booked at Marin County Jail on suspicion of burglary and drunkenness and held under $2,000 bail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Officers said Demshar told them he had just been released from the service and was looking for the home of friends in Marin.

Lack Of Quorum

The Larkspur School District board did not meet last night for lack of a quorum, scheduling its next session for 8 p.m. May 7 at the district office.

Nevada Wary Of Seashore Swaps

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — Saying there are "too many unknowns," Nevada's two top parks officials today asked the Bureau of Land Management to halt trades of Nevada public land for private land to expand the Point Reyes National Seashore in California.

The BLM held off all but one trade since a January meeting in Elko brought protests to trading public lands into private hands for the California park, and had asked Nevada state and private conservation groups for comments.

Thomas W. Miller, chairman of the State Parks Advisory Commission, and Eric Cronkhite, parks administrator, said 25 new swap proposals have been added to the half dozen pending, making field inspections for their recommendations on individual cases impossible.

Youth Held In Burglary Probe

Michael David Dobbs, 19, of Newport, Ore., was booked into Marin County Jail yesterday on suspicion of burglary and trespassing after a man alerted by his car burglar alarm observed him tampering with the car, San Rafael police reported today.

Dobbs was to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Donald J. Foster of 421 Mission Avenue placed Dobbs under citizen's arrest at 2:57 p.m. near his home shortly after observing him running away from his parked car, police said. Foster later told police nothing was missing from the car.

SAFETY DEVICE—George Kernan loads the electric flare ejector and igniter he invented. He was filling the revolving cylinders for a practice run at the highway patrol office in Corte Madera during which each turn of the key near his right hand dropped a lighted flare through the floor of the truck onto the roadway.

Bridge Worker Invents Safety Device To Plant Highway Flares

A flare device that could eliminate the most dangerous part of a Highway patrolman's work has been demonstrated at the Corte Madera Highway Patrol office.

George Kernan, of San Pablo, an electrician on the San Rafael-Richmond Bridge, noticed the danger involved in placing flares on the bridge and began work three years ago on a flare dispenser that would drop flares on the road and ignite them automatically.

The device he demonstrated Wednesday looked like the cylinder of a revolver, loaded with eight flares and mounted into the floor of his bridge truck.

The cylinder drops one flare through the floor of the truck each time a key is turned, ignites it and drops it onto the roadway.

The cannister-sized cylinder would fit easily into the trunk or passenger compartment of a highway patrol vehicle.

Highway patrol Sgt. James C. Dukes said several highway patrolmen have been killed while putting out flares at accident scenes. It is the most dangerous part of a patrolman's job, he added.

In addition to providing greatly increased safety in areas such as Waldo Grade and the Golden Gate Bridge, the new flare device would allow patrolmen to cope with an accident faster.

Kernan and his partner, Jerry Evitts, also of San Pablo, plan to market the device for $45 and charge about 2 cents each for special caps that align the flare in the turret, ignite it when it is dropped and keep it from rolling when it hits the road.

Special Drug Treatment Urged

Donald Rosenberg, candidate for Marin Municipal Court Judge, urged use of methadone to treat persons suffering from narcotic addiction in a talk last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hart, 6 Vista Court, Corte Madera.

"Methadone has been found to be an effective tool in treating problems of heroin addiction. Its use in California has been restricted by law. Legislation is now pending to permit greater use of methadone," he said.

Rosenberg is scheduled to appear at open houses in the following Marin homes: Tuesday, 7:30 p.m., Mr. and Mrs. Mel Hechtman, 111 Harn Court, and 8:30 p.m., Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Yaffee, 666 Hillary Drive, both in Tiburon; and Thursday, 10:30 a.m., Col. Fred Stribling, 29 Rosebank Avenue, Kentfield.

HAMILTON MERCY MISSION

Hamilton Air Force Base paramedics S/Sgt. Barry H. Hebert (left) and TSgt. Dolford R. V. Widner treated Jose Betancourt, ailing crewman of a Colombian freighter, for bleeding stomach ulcers yesterday after the three were hoisted aboard a U.S. Coast Guard helicopter from the ship 292 miles southwest of San Diego. The paramedics had parachuted into the ocean with six pints of blood when the ship was about 500 miles off San Diego and treated Betancourt onboard until the freighter could get within helicopter range of the coast. Betancourt was taken to Balboa Naval Hospital in San Diego where he was reported in fair condition.

Nixon Attacks Those Campus Bums

Combined AP & UPI

WASHINGTON — President Nixon today attacked "those bums" among students who are "blowing up the campuses . . . burning the books" and contrasted them to GIs fighting in Southeast Asia.

Nixon's bitter attack on college demonstrators came while chatting with a small gathering of Pentagon employes who cheered him when he visited the Defense Department this morning to discuss the new U.S. operation Cambodia.

A young woman, beaming and her eyes sparkling, told him: "I loved your speech. It made me proud to be an American."

Obviously pleased, Nixon related his preparation of his Thursday night speech on Vietnam.

"When it got down to the conclusion then you say —well, the usual thing. You ask for support for the President and all that guff. Then you finally think of those kids out there.

"I say 'kids;' I've seen them. The're the greatest. You know you see these bums —you know, blowing up the campuses. Listen, the boy on the college campuses today are the luckiest people in the world, going to the greatest universities, and here they are burning up the books.

"I mean storming around about this issue. I mean you name it, get rid of the war, there'll be another one —and then, out there we got kids who are just doing their duty, and I've seen them and they stand tall, and they're proud.

"I'm sure they're scared. I was when I was there but when it really comes down to it, they stand up. Boy, you've got to talk up for those men."

The chief executive, accompanied by Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird, gave no assessment on the new offensive in Cambodia reporting only that he had received a "very good briefing."

Nixon said it was "just the beginning" of a Cambodian campaign which could last several weeks.

The President was asked by reporters whether he thinks the American public backs his decision to enter Cambodia, a move highly criticized by some members of Congress.

"I know I did what I believe was right."

What really matters, the President said, "is if it turns out all right."

Before the Pentagon visit Nixon disclosed today he stayed up until 5 a.m. yesterday working on his Cambodia speech and got less than six hours sleep after making it.

The President showed the effects of strain. While delivering the address on radio and television, his face was ashen and his eyes bloodshot. And at one point, he had to interrupt himself to wipe perspiration from his face.

He stayed up until 1:30 a.m. today to talk on the telephone with some of those who kept the White House switchboard lighted with calls. But he was back at his office at 7:30 a.m.

New Post Office Due In Woodacre

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — A new main post office will be constructed in Woodacre, Postmaster Gen. Winton M. Blount announced today.

The building will be constructed on a 7,146-square-foot site and will provide 2,043 square feet of interior space, plus 60 square feet of platform area and 4,900 square feet for parking and maneuvering of postal vehicles.

The present building has 540 square feet of interior area, no platform area and 250 square feet of parking and maneuvering area.

Blount said the decision on a new building was made after it was determined that remodeling the present focility or the use of another existing building would not be feasible.

He said the building will be constructed under a lease construction program which will keep it on the local tax rolls.

The site has not been selected.

Quake In Manila

MANILA (UPI)—An earthquake rocker Manila and its environs today, swaying tall buildings and sending people fleeing their homes. There were no reports of injury or damage. The Weather Bureau's geophysical division said the tmeblor registered four on the Rossi-Forel scale of nine.

Intruder Cuts Woman; Young Suspect Jailed

A 26-year old San Rafael housewife yesterday sustained cuts and scratches as she fought off a masked, knife-wielding assailant inside her home, San Rafael police reported today.

About an hour later, a 19-year old Sebastopol hitchiker, given a ride by a Marin County sheriff's deputy on Highway 101, was arrested on suspicion of assault with intent to commit rape and entering a home with intent to commit a felony.

The man, Roy Garcia Garcia, was booked into Marin County Jail, and held in lieu of $3,125 bail to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Sara Magid told police a stocky man wearing a brown ski mask over his face and holding one of her kitchen knives grabbed her as she entered her home at 322 Glen Park Avenue at 10:20 a.m.

Mrs. Magid sustained knife gashes on her hands, police said, as she tried to fight off the man on the first floor of her home. The man, seeing she was bleeding profusely told her to go upstairs and "get cleaned up," police said.

The man followed her upstairs and again attacked her in the bathroom, police said.

Apparently relenting when she began to cry, Mrs. Magid told police, the man ordered her to remain quiet for 10 minutes after he left, then fled the house.

Mrs. Magid did not require hospitalization for her cut hands.

At 10:50 p.m. Deputy Sheriff Norman R. Johnson picked up Garcia hitchiking on Highway 101 and drove him to the Terra Linda off-ramp, police said.

A few minutes later Johnson realized Garcia answered the description of the man wanted by police. He returned to where he had picked up Garcia, police said, and found a brown ski mask on the ground.

Freeway Pedestrian To Mental Health Unit

A 26-year-old Sausalito woman was committed to the Community Mental Health Center at Marin General Hospital yesterday after a California Highway Patrolman found her walking on Highway 101.

The officer said Sandra H. Syfert, of Gate 6, was walking in the merging lane of the freeway just south of Tiburon Boulevard at 4:30 p.m. She told the patrolman that she was having visions of God.

Confusion Exists On Panel Makeup

The Fairfax Planning Commission, not knowing exactly who its members are, last night deferred action on two agenda items before it and postponed until May 21 discussion of the city's proposed sign and zoning ordinances, according to its new chairman, E. Ross Parkerson.

Parkerson was elected chairman at a special meeting April 16 after the commission's former chairman, Albert E. Gately, was thought to have been elected to the city council.

When Gately was sworn in April 21 as a councilman, he was automatically removed from the commission. However, he was removed from the council April 24 after a recount showed that Robert R. Souza had beat him.

Gately said today he assumed his removal from the commission was nevertheless still valid, but City Administrator Frances Lestangues and Parkenson both said they thought he was still on the commission.

The commission's problems were compounded by the fact that Leo T. Cronin, who submitted his oral resignation from the commission to the city council last Friday, has not yet submitted a formal written resignation.

Cronin, at the time of his oral resignation, had asked that he be allowed to continue on the commission until a successor is appointed, but he did not attend last night's meeting.

Parkerson said the commission last night decided to ask Mrs. Lestanguet to determine who is and who is not on the commission.

The meeting was attended by Parkerson , John J. Hourihan, Harold S. Lezzeni and Hugh O. Winn, with William D. Chapman also absent.

The commission failed to act on an appeal of the city design review board's rejection of a proposed new store front for Fairfax Hardware, 1824 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, when Winn removed himself from the discussion because he is the contractor for the proposed project.

Action on a request for a conditional use permit to allow Kermit Sheets to use his home at 78 Wreden Avenue as a two-unit dwelling, despite its single family residential zoning classification, was also deferred because the commission wanted more information on the request.

The commission also requested the city council to appoint representatives to the city-county planning council. Gately and Cronin have been the commission's representative and alternate and Adelaide P. Wilson, who did not win reelection to the council, was the council's representative.

Hourihan and Winn were recommended by the commission to the council as the commission's representative and alternate.

The council will have to act at its meeting Monday if the city is to be represented at the next City-County Planning Council meeting Thursday.

Hospital Picking New Executive

The appointment of a permanent hospital administrator may be made next week, the Hillcrest Hospital board of directors said last night.

Dr. Dwight E. Barnett of Inverness, interim adviser, said the field of applicants for the position had been narrowed to three men. Board member William Perry said the board will interview the finalists next Thursday and may announce the appointment then.

The administrator's position has been vacant since Jan. 27 when M. Loree Smith, 57, of Point Reyes, was fired. The board said the person needed to direct the proposed growth of the hospital should have more administrative ability.

Mrs. Smith charged that she was fired because of her sex and age.

Trustee Candidates Will Talk To Club

Charles E. Hancock and Lyman Robinson, who will vie for a vacant seat on the Bolinas-Stinson School District board on June 2, will speak at tomorrow's meeting of the Bolinas Beach Improvement club at 7 p.m. in the Mesa Clubhouse, Elm Road, Bolinas.

The evening will begin with a potluck dinner, according to publicity chairman Alice C. Silva, who said a whist party will follow the talks. Mrs. Silva said tomorrow's meeting will be the last for the club until October.

$66,542 In Educational Special Funds

Marin and Southern Sonoma school districts have received an additional $66,542 in federal funds for vocational education programs, according to the state Department of Education.

These funds — part of a $5.6 million addition to the state's original entitlement of $14.5 million — supplement $123,353 origionally allocated to five Marin districts and one in Southern Sonoma.

Entitlement funds from the federal government are awarded to help defray additional expense of vocational training for the handicapped and for programs for those unable to benefit from regular vocational programs. At least 25 per cent of federal money granted to districts must be used for these programs.

The new funds became available with passage of a department of Health, Education, and Welfare budget by Congress that is higher than was anticipated.

Original allocation and new grant for the five school districts: Marin Junior College — $77,853 and $26,634; Tamalpais High — $12,500 and $14,358; San Rafael City — $9,000 and $9,278; Novato Unified — $6,900 and $7,295; Shoreline Unified — $2,000 and $691; and Petaluma City — $16,500 and $8,286 .

Cluster Zoning Due Hearing In Tiburon

The Tiburon Planning Commission will discuss amending the city's zoning ordinance to allow clustering of residences when it meets Monday at 8 p.m. at city hall.

Also on the agenda is discussion of amendments to the parking and loading ordinance.

Murder Trial Deals With Marinite's Identification

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The murder trial of Elsie Nyhan and her son, Daniel of Tiburon, resumed in San Francisco Superior Court yesterday after a one-day recess with testimony largely devoted to identification of Nyhan.

The 72-year-old widow and her 43-year-old son are accused of beating to death Gene Donal, 61, of San Francisco in a Nob Hill apartment in October 1968.

The son was identified by several witnesses including Tiburon resident Margaret Powers who said she saw Nyhan on a Tiburon bus the day after the murder.

Marijuana Case Jury Trial Slated

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Ronald Paul Moniz, 28, of Cotati, was scheduled yesterday for a jury trial June 9 at 10 a.m. in Central Sonoma Municipal Court on a charge of possession of marijuana.

Moniz of 9527 Old Redwood Highway, was arrested Jan. 19 at the Sonoma County Jail when jailers said they found a marijuana cigarette in his pocket while booking him on suspicion of drunken driving. Cotati police had stopped his car on Gravenstein Highway at Helman Lane.

Moniz is free on $1,250 bail.

Fire Chief Raps Trash Burning In Fireplaces

Burning of trash or paper in fireplaces can ignite rooftops and threaten grass and brushland, County Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom warned today.

Several roof fires were set recently by the burning of papers in fireplaces, and the coming dry season increases the danger, warned Bloom.

If residents must use fireplaces, they should take the following precautions:

1. Do not burn papers or trash in fireplaces on windy days or afternoons.
2. Burn in the mornings only when conditions are damp.
3. Install half-inch screen mesh on top of the chimney to prevent burning paper or embers from igniting the roof.
4. Remove needles, leaves or other dead vegetation from roofs.
5. Remove any portion of tree, either dead or alive, within 10 feet of the chimney outlet.

"I strongly recommended that trash or paper not be burned in fireplaces at all," said Bloom. "This type of burning threatens surrounding grass and brush lands in addition to homes."

Four Hamilton Men Get Medals, Commendations

Bronze Stars and Commendation Medals have been awarded to four Air Force men now stationed at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Recipients of the Bronze Star for meritorious service in Southeast Asia are Capt. Jerry M. O'Brien, 222 West Kelly Drive, and Senior M/Sgt. James W. Perkins, 1278 San Jose Boulevard.

M/Sgt. James E. Roessler, 313 Bolling Drive, received the Commendation Medal and Capt. Charles J. Heubusch, 399 Westover Circle, was presented with the first oak leaf cluster to the Commendation Medal.

O'Brien was cited for a one-year stint as chief of the flight facilities branch of the 1882 Communications Squadron in Vietnam that ended in February.

Perkins was decorated for acting as superintendent of the telecommunications branch of the 1982 Communications Squadron in Thailand during battle situations from October 1968 to October 1969.

Strike Posed By Teachers

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The threat of a strike by both of San Francisco's major teacher organizations was posed Thursday by the Classroom Teachers Association.

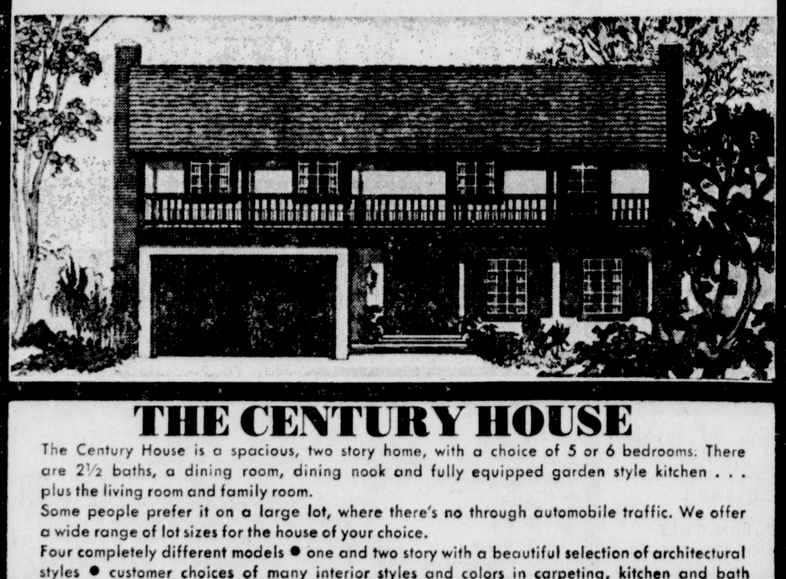

Association President Patrick King urged school authorities to consider its demands quickly "to prevent a teacher strike in San Francisco this spring." A similar move was made earlier by the Teachers Union.

In a letter to Board of Education President Alan Nichols, King listed priority demands and asked "immediate negotiations." School officials agreed to discuss demands beginning today.

Bride's Dinner Can Fool Her Guests

By PAT BALMES

"The secret of being the relaxed hostess of your first dinner party is doing things ahead," reveals Mrs. Myron Kaplan to brides to whom she teaches preparation of easy gourmet dinners that look difficult. The petite mother of two grown daughters has a home economics degree from the University of California at Davis and has taught cooking in her Larkspur home for seven years.

During her six-week cooking course for brides, Janet Kaplan demonstrates six complete meals which are "sort of fancy, but really easy," she winks. For the first dinner party, Janet teaches a simple French meal that will "fool the bride's guests because it looks like she spent a lot of time on it."

"Brides are usually working wives, so I teach them to divide the preparation into one hours on each of four evenings before the party," says the cooking teacher. Having marketed the previous weekend, the novice hostess should start preparing her first Saturday dinner party for eight on Tuesday evening, when she prepares the soup. Wednesday evening the bride makes the chicken casserole. On Thursday evening she attends to table setting. Friday she makes the dessert. So Saturday evening the bride can greet her dinner guests relaxed and confident.

"No being trapped in the kitchen at the last minute mashing potatoes," says Janet who suggests baked potatoes and frozen vegetables as an easy accompaniment.

Refrigerating the French Onion Soup several days enhances the flavor, according to the cooking teacher. Her hint: make a double batch and freeze the extra soup which will keep nicely for two or three weeks.

FRENCH ONION SOUP

5 or 6 large onions, sliced and separated into rings
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 tablespoon salt
1 teaspoon sugar
3 tablespoons flour
1 can beef bouillon
4 beef bouillion cubes dissolved in 1 cup hot water
1quart water

Simmer onion rings slowly in butter and oil until limp and light brown (about 10-15 minutes). Add salt and sugar and simmer 5-10 minutes longer. Watch them carefully and stir them as they tend to stick. Sprinkle with flour and cook two minutes longer. Add bouillon, bouillion cubes dissolved in water, and the extra quart of water and bring to a boil. Simmer slowly 1½ hours. Serve with toast rounds that have been sprinkled with parmesan cheese. This soup keeps well in the refrigerator 5 days. Flavor improves upon standing. It also freezes well. Serves eight.

Poulet Parmesan can be placed in a casserole after browning chicken and mushroom. Sprinkle with mint and refrigerate. An hour and a half before dinner time, cover the chicken with mushroom soup and parmesan cheese and bake.

Because chicken is inexpensive, the bride will demonstrate her ingenuity with her food dollar, according to Janet. "And it is more interesting to her guests than prime rib, which wouldn't show the bride's capabilities as a cook."

POULET PARMESAN

2 3-lb. chickens, disjointed, or 8 whole chicken breasts
Juice of 1 lemon
½ teasooon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon paprika
4 tablespoons salad oil
2 cups sliced fresh mushrooms (¼ lb.)
4 teaspoons mint leaves, preferably fresh, but dried will do
⅔ cups parmesan cheese
2 cans cream of mushroom soup, undiluted

Rub chicken pieces with lemon juice. Sprinkle with salt, pepper and paprika. Brown on both sides in hot oil. Set aside in large casserole. Brown mushrooms in remaining oil. Pour over chicken. Sprinkle with mint. Cover with undiluted mushroom soup. Top with parmesan cheese. Bake in covered casserole or pan in 350 degree oven 1½ hours. If chicken pieces are small, they will cook slightly faster. Serves eight.

Pointe du Vin Chocolat takes only 15 minutes to make! Refrigerating it overnight enhances the flavor and allows the chocolate frosting to harden.

POINTE DU VIN CHOCOLATE

1 small pound cake about 10 oz. purchased from the store
⅛ cup rum, brandy, sherry, or any fruit cordial
⅛ cup water
4 oz. semi sweet chocolate, melted
1 cube butter
3 egg yolks
1 tablespoon additional liquor same kind you used in above

Split cake into four layers (lengthwise). Mix liquor and water and sprinkle over cake. Cream butter and sugar. Add melted chocolate, egg yolks, and the additional liquor. Spread between layers of cake and on top and sides. Sprinkle top with sliced almonds if desired. Chill several hours or overnight. This freezes beautifully. Serves eight.

"I can turn anybody into a gourmet cook in six lessons," Janet promises. Other courses she teaches in her own kitchen are Foreign Cooking, Simplified Holiday Cooking and Simplified Gourmet Cooking.

"Some of my students are good cooks who are looking for new ideas. A lot of housewives get into a rut. I choose recipes for entertaining that are not 'so far out' that they wouldn't do for the family."

MRS. MYRON Kaplan of Larkspur left, instructs bride-to-be Linda Roche of Novato how to "fool her first dinner guests" with an easy, make-ahead gourmet dinner. "The secret of a relaxed hostess is doing things ahead," says Janet Kaplan, B.S. in home economics from the University of California at Davis. For novice cooks, she chooses easy recipes that look difficult such as French Onion Soup.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Dashing Widower Can't Decide Between Four Eligible Ladies

DEAR HELEN:

I smile at myself for writing this to you, but I like to read your column and maybe someone will like reading my problem.

I am 76 years old. Lost my wife a year ago. Have very nice house and garden, and want someone to share it with. No, this isn't a lonelyhearts letter. You see, I have four to choose from.

Number one is a little too worn out. She was the girl I almost married years ago, but chose my wife instead. Loyalty makes me consider her, but to be frank, there's hardly anything left of her.

Number two is active and talkative and a bit on the radical side. She was divorced. She probably wore her husband out, and she might me too.

Number three is very nice, cute and intelligent, but overly devoted to her grandchildren. I'm afraid I might get the pumpkin from her. (That means a refusal.)

Number four is the widow of my former best friend. She's full of pep, a little too roly poly, very active now in social work. A fine gal.

I am somewhat scared of them all. So I divide my time between the four.

Too bad man's mate can't still be fashioned from his rib. Maybe then we'd get something we know about. Which one? — SCARED

DEAR SCARED:

When indecision is bliss, 'tis folly to be wed. Step out with all four until you're sure you'd rather be married than a dashing widower. But that time, you'll have made your own choice (and I'm betting on number four.) — H

DEAR HELEN:

I just had to write this.

We have walked together 30 years and are still in love. I still put occasional notes in my husband's lunch, telling him how much I care for him — and he leaves answers for me. Silly? No. We love each other.

We can look across a room full of people or just across our own living room and see the same look in our eyes that brought us together. We walk hand in hand down the street if we feel lige it. If we have a tiff, it's soon over and we laught about it.

Somehow this deep affection is catching. Our children feel it for their mates, and our grandchildren are open and demonstrative.

Of course life isn't all peaches and cream, but even as I write, I am filled with a warmth, just thinking of the joys and sorrows we have shared together. At age 50, I can still say, "Hi, I love you, honey," as spontaneously as I did at 20, and so can my man! Faith and love are a great team. —GRANDMA STILL IN LOVE

DEAR GRANDMA:

They certainly are — and so are you. Thanks for writing. —H

DEAR HELEN:

This woman will call and tell you how and what kinds of personal lives our friends are living. Then when you try to defend them, she's hostile. So you say nothing.

Yet she has managed to convince those same friends that I am the culprit who spread tales. All I did was listen. Can people really believe I'm a gossip? — A.H.

DEAR A:

When you listen to a confirmed gossip, she assumes you agree with her. Then it's only a small shift to 'Guess what A.H. told me today?" And soon she may even believe you started the rumor.

Tell your friends the truth, and next time remember that she who says nothing often has words put in her mouth. — H.

EFC Camps Offer Educational Trip

By SANDRA HAGGERTY

Nervously, I rang the doorbell. At last I was on the trail of a good job—one that looked stimulating and educational—a job I really wanted. I patted my hair and adjusted my dress. The employment agency indicated that I was qualified for the position, but that several others were applying for the same job. I rang the bell again.

The door opened, and I found myself looking at a face that was vaguely familiar. We both stood staring, momentarily confused. When the pieces fell into place we yelled jubilantly and simustaneously "EFC, 1958!"

EFC—The Encampment for Citizenship. It had been years since I had thought about that summer in New York City when I met, worked, lived and learned with other students from every walk of life—black, white, Indian, Mexican, Puerto Rican, rich, poor—from across the country.

THAT SUMMER I became aware of the multitple problems within our society; problems I had thought of only vaguely or not at all. And, as important, I discovered ways in which I, a green 17-year-old, could make a contribution to our country—and help to solve these social ills. And, I met other persons who were doing just that.

This year, EFC celebrates its 25th year of operation. Sponsored by the American Ethical Union, a voluntary organization, it was established by Algernon D. Black and Mrs. Alice K. Pollitzer, who back in 1946 recognized the need for such an arena to provide an educational experience for young persons which would present a variety of ideas, people and programs and social service and change opportunities.

This arena has grown from one small group of campers to EFC camps across the country. During the six-week summer session, EFC is virtually an island of democracy, where everyone can contribute ideas and leadership, regardless of age, race, religion or parents' income or social position.

Staff members are carefully chosen from outstanding persons who have demonstrated their ability to live and communicate their ideals.

The encampment is not a propaganda program aimed at making converts to any particular political or religious point of view, nor is it a political position-taking action organization.

IT IS AN educational "trip"—with all the fascination and exhilaration of learning, discovering and doing.

EFC's goal of building and nurturing leaders and responsible citizens has certainly been realized, as evidence the impressive number of alumni who hold public offices and positions of leadership in every major field of endeavor across our country.

This summer, EFC will again open its doors to all young persons between the ages of 15 and 18. (For information, write to EFC, 2 West 64th St., New York, N.Y. 10023.) Its services are more vitally needed than ever before—needed because today's youth is very aware of and concerned about the problems which face our country.

(P.S. I got the job.)

Midi-Wearers Will Pay A Higher Price For Style

NEW YORK (UPI)—What will it cost you who switch to the midi from the mini? Besides a whole new wardrobe, that is.

It depends on how much longer you would want a hemline and on the fabric used in the garment. Figure on a new garment that takes no more than one-quarter of a yard of fabric and you've added on $5 or more, says Leonard Arkin, president, the Arkin Organization. The retail price rises concurrent with more fabric used, and costlier fabrics.

Mollie Parnis, a dress designer-manufacturer, figured on the average a customer could expect to pay 10 to 15 per cent more for the midi. Her clothes are in the upper price bracket range anyway.

★ ONCE IN A LIFETIME

Call us to see a truly outstanding luxury residence in San Rafael's most discriminating "estate" location. Over 5,000 square feet of unequalled living area. Enter a world of elegance through double doors and be greeted by subtle decor and muted tones. A large formal dining room convenient for serving many guests from the huge kitchen. A LARGE wet bar in the family room disappears to blend with the rich paniling (as does the stero-hi-fi and television). Unbelievable amount of storage in all 4 bedrooms. Complete burglar alarm and fire alarm systems (the best, of course) along with master light switches for the entire home can be operated from bedside. A 2 bedroom, 1 bath detached guest house near the 20 x 40 heated and filtered pool is waiting for your guests. 3 garages (with electric openers) for convenience.

The entire property is maintenance free with flagstone patio and fully sprinklered "potted" shrubs. Complete privacy and gorgeous bay view afforded, yet level and near town. See for yourself why we're excited about this Fox & Carskadon "Special". $125,000.

Friends Of Earth Hit Alaska Pipeline

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI— The proposed multi-million dollar Alaska Pipeline has come under attack again.

This time, the Conservation Society Friends of the Earth Today is accusing Secretary of Interior Walter J. Hickel and Alaska Gov. Keith Miller of an attempt to circumvent a court injunction.

Society president David Brower told a news conference Thursday that the state is planning to build a road involved in the proposed pipeline across Alaska's frozen tundra despite a court order barring the federal government from approving it.

Friends of Earth and two other conservation agencies obtained a federal court injunction April 13 barring permits for the 320-mile road from the Yukon River to Prudolm Bay.

Brower said his organization had information that Hickel's brother, Vernon, had given assurances that the eight oil companies who have formed a consortium to build the 800-mile pipeline plan to reimburse the state for its cost.

"This is a wild, rash and reckless attempt to get the oil out and leave all kinds of damage behind," Brower said of the information received.

"We share what we believe to be a wide public repugnance (against the attitude) that injunctions are for postmen but not for cabinet officers or governors, and that a secretary of interior would prejudice his position as protector of the public interest by closeting himself with 128 lobbyists for oil development in a $32,000 charter flight from Alaska to Washington," he added.

The lobbyists Brower referred to flew to Washington with Miller to try to convince President Nixon and Hickel to speed up issuing permits for the pipeline and the road.

The oil line would carry oil from the northern reaches of the 49th State—rich in new petroleum strikes—to shipping ports in the south.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Modern Medicine Stresses Health Rather Than Disease

Positive health through balanced living is emphasized in the modern approach to medical problems. This idea goes beyond preventive medicine, which concentrates on avoidable diseases.

Health rather than disease is emphasized. Devotees of this concept try to protect themselves against illnesses, accidents, and physical and mental deterioration by adhering to the basic rules of health. In so doing, they hope to acquire a happier and a more wholesome and efficient way of life.

POSITIVE HEALTH means eating a balanced diet, avoiding constipation, getting sufficient rest, and exercising moderately. These activities, plus intellectual stimulation, keep the mind and body from becoming flabby. Interesting and specific recreational pursuits must be acquired.

Maintaining pride in our work and a sense of humor go a long way. More balanced living is maintained thru companionship and participation in community affairs. Control over anger, jealously, and hate will discourage butterflies in the stomach, ulcers, and high blood pressure.

Moderation in all things is vital. This is the good clean living with which most of us are familiar.

BUT DESPITE THESE beautiful ideals and practices, we cannot forget disease, accidents, and mental disturbances, because life is a constant struggle with microbes, pollution, drunken drivers, or the boss.

Let's not pretend that disease does not exist. Even the healthiest bow to contagious diseases unless preventive vaccines have been used.

A Spartan existence is not a safeguard against cancer, and there is no way to overcome hereditary disorders that have been passed along from our ancestors.

BUT OUR DAYS will be more serene if our goal is the achievement of mental and physical well-being.

DROP FOOT

REPLY

Yes, depending upon the cause and whether the affected nerve in the leg is capable of regeneration. Nerve tests are available to make this determination. As a last resort the foot can be held up by a brace or by having the ankle stiffened through surgery. Victims of this disorder cannot lift up the toes or foot and must raise the entire leg when walking in order to keep the toes from dragging.

SIX SMALL MEALS

Mrs. J.G. writes: On any prescribed three-meals-a-day diet, is it possible to divide the foods allowed into more than three meals? This person is not always hungry at mealtime.

REPLY

Yes. Some people prefer to eat six small meals a day rather than the usual three.

NOT A KILLER

N.B. writes: Is arthritis a killing disease?

REPLY

Before modern remedies became available, we dubbed arthritis a disease that never killed, but never got better. Times have changed. The victims get better, live longer, and enjoy a more comfortable life.

MIGRAINE AND EPILEPSY

M.E. writes: Are migraine headaches related to epilepsy?

REPLY

This is a moot question. It is difficult to determine whether there is a relationship between the two conditions because migraine is so common. Some migraine suffers develop epilepsy as also do some of their offspring.

Standard's Gas Additive Questioned

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Standard Oil's new gasoline additive F-310 "showed no significant changes in emissions of pollutants" when tested on 861 normal cars, the California State Air Resources Board reported today.

In its report, the ARB said that unlike tests conducted by Standard Oil of California, its own studies were not made on "dirty" engines, "and therefore do not disprove the claim that F-310 reduces emissions" from such engines.

"Generally speaking, the board found that the use of F-310 in the cars it tested showed no significant changes in emissions of pollutants, the ARB said.

Standard Oil advertises that the additive "sharply reduces dirty exhaust from dirty engines. And helps toward cleaner air."

A spokesman for Standard Oil Company of California said the Air Resources Board's findings were not inconsistent with its claims for F-310.

"In relatively clean engines such as the ARB tested, F-310 simply maintains the cars in clean condition. It is in dirty engines that F-310 has the most dramatic effect. This is most important as 40 per cent of California's cars are high emitters and produce most of the automotive air pollution," the company spokesman said.

Cahill Says No Alioto, Mafia Link At Trial

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Former San Francisco police chief Thomas Cahill, fired by Mayor Joseph Alioto last February, testified Thursday his department had no information connecting the mayor with the Mafia.

Cahill, who served as chief for almost 12 years, was called by Alioto's attorney in the mayor's $12.5 million libel suit against Look Magazine. Look said in an article published last September Alioto was "enmeshed in a web of alliances with at least six leaders" of the Mafia.

The article was written by freelancers Richard Carlson and Lance Brisson. Carlson, who was on the witness stand briefly Thursday, was scheduled to resume testimony today.

Cahill testified that no information from any source had been brought to his attention linking Alioto to the Mafia and that the extent to which his name appeared in San Francisco police files was as a lawyer representing a client.

"There has never been organized crime in San Francisco during my time as chief," Cahill testified. The ex-chief also said the name of Jimmy (The Weasel) Fratianno "popped up from time to time" in the department.

When Fratianno got out of prison it was suggested that he be allowed to settle in San Francisco on parole, Cahill said, but "I wanted no part of him."

Judges Named For Art, Garden Fair Art Show

Three art professors have been named judges for the last Marin Art and Garden Fair's annual art show at the art and garden center in Ross July 1 through July 5.

The professors are Walter Kuhlman of Sonoma State College, Rohnert Park; Boyd Allen of the University of California; and Paul Harris of the California College of Arts and Crafts in Oakland.

The 25th annual show will be the last at Ross. Next year's fair will be at new fairgrounds at the Marin County Civic Center.

Entry cards may be obtained from museums, art schools, the fair office, or by mail, but they must be returned to the Marin Art and Garden Fair office by June 17.

Cash awards totaling $375 will be offered to winning exhibits.

The theme is "Best of Our Years". The gardens will be recreations of winners of previous years.

TV REVIEW

Many In Rush For Top Roles

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — A number of celebrities are allying themselves with television in surprising ways these days.

For example, former pro football star Fred Williamson, most recently of the Kansas City Chiefs, will become a regular on NBC-TV's "Julia" next season, playing the main romantic interest of the series' headliner, Diahann Carroll.

Williamson, who also performed on the gridiron for the Oakland Raiders, Pittsburgh Steelers and San Francisco 49ers, will portray a law student who is a widower with a young daughter. As "Julia," Miss Carroll plays a working mother who is a widow with a son.

The series established early that Julia's husband was a serviceman killed in Vietnam. According to NBC-TV's announcement, Williamson will play a man whose wife, "a Vietnam citizen, was killed in the war."

Williamson is expected to appear in about 15 episodes in the coming season.

Another surprise is that man of constant surprises —Peter Ustinov. This time it turns out he will appear as conductor and narrator of a New York Philharmonic Young People's Concert on CBS-TV in the fall. Currently he is rehearsing the program, which will be taped May 9 and will deal with "The use of narration and the speaking voice in conjunction with symphonic music."

Then there is the confirmation that longtime movie star Henry Fonda, who has dabbled steadily in video, will turn up in his own half-hour "comedy-drama" series on ABC-TV in January. It is called "The Smith Family," and Fonda will play a Los Angeles police detective sergeant with a wife and three children.

Call For Rapid Transit Planning

There was a call last night for a transit system for the Golden Gate corridor, San Francisco to Santa Rosa, that would be flexible and provide mobility.

It came at a meeting of the Citizens Advisory Panel on the long range transit study of the Golden Gate Bridge District at Olney Hall at the College of Marin.

Automobiles and freeways took a back seat as panel members spoke of rapid transit including underwater tubes with ferries as a supplementary means of transportation.

Although the panel was created by the district to foster public involvement in transit planning, only about 35 persons showed up.

Gerald P. Cauthen of San Francisco, representing the transportation study group, said "the people are looking for increased mobility and reduced congestion."

Philip K. Buskirk of Tiburon representing the regional issues study group, said since the group couldn't guess what will happen by 2015, the system should have flexibility.

The system chosen could influence the way of living in the future, commented Lester Cohen of Sausalito, representing the environemntal-ecological study group.

The system could either intensify the present commute system or it could help to decentralize the travel and work patterns of the population, he said.

Panel chairman Margaret Azevedo of Tiburon reminded members their task is to consider the effects of the several proposed routes for a transportation corridor and state their preference.

William H. Liskamm, of Okamoto and Liskamm of San Francisco, planning and urban design consultants for the study, said transit systems still under consideration are:

1. A rapid transit system underground in San Francisco through the Richmond district then across the Golden Gate Bridge via a second deck, then along the Northwestern Pacific Railroad tracks to Novato, and potentially to Sonoma and Napa counties. The same system could be operated with a second Golden Gate Bridge, rather than a second deck on the existing bridge.

2. An underwater tube from Aquatic Park to Sausalito and then a rapid transit line through Marin.

3. Extension of the Bay Area Rapid Transit System from Richmond to San Rafael, with Southern Marin to be served by buses.

Ferries would serve as supplemental systems, to Tiburon, Sausalito and Corte Madera, and there also could be ferry service to Bolinas and Point Reyes National Seashore for recreational travel, Liskamm said.

Cauthen said the transportation study group favored a rail system to any bus system and Buskirk said the regional issues group favored "getting people out of private automobiles."

Richard L. Katz of Sausalito, representing the economic study group, said that group favored extension of the BART system to San Rafael.

This route would cause the least economic disruption, Katz contended.

Peter W. Otis of Larkspur, of the development study committee, said there is a need in Marin for an east-west transportation system, particularly to serve the recreational area in West Marin.

Wayne Wedell of Sausalito, representing the open space-recreation study group, proposed that any transportation system be "as invisible as possible," and "freeways should be diminished."

Thomas E. Burke of Sausalito, of the Golden Gate Commuters Club, said the Northwestern Railroad tracks provide an efficient thoroughfare and the most accessible route to the north.

Cohen replied that the railroad route shouldn't be chosen just because the tracks are there.

Thomas Beyer, president of the Marin County Labor Council, said the council favored "tube and rail with bus feeder, but doesn't go for ferry boats.

Burglary Case Sentencing Set

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court has set sentencing for John Randolph Arbuckle, 21, of San Rafael for June 15 on a conviction of second degree burglary.

Arbuckle admitted Wednesday to burglarizing a Belvedere residence on Jan. 14 just as he was set to go to trial before Judge McGuire.

Baptiste Coffees Are Scheduled

Arnold Baptiste, candidate for supervisor from the Fifth District, will speak at a public coffee at 8 p.m. today at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ryken at 11 Vijo Way, Novato.

At 3 p.m. Sunday, he will be guest at a tea at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Tharpe at 775 Atherton Avenue and at 4 p.m., a guest at a coffee at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Udaloff at 440 Marin Oaks Drive.

At 8 p.m. Tuesday he will be speaker at a coffee at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dickson Buxton at 24 Prestwick Court.

Requests For Child Care Center Slated

A request for a respite home for mentally retarded children in Santa Venetia will come before the Marin County Zoning Administrator Monday at the Civic Center.

The hearing is set for 9:55 a.m. in the planning commission chambers on the third floor.

Esther Muelrath of 21 Linda Avenue, San Rafael, will ask for a use permit for the respite home at 601 North San Pedro Road, on the northwest side of Upper Road. The home will handle up to 10 children, aged 3 to 10, for overnight stay from October through May. An additional 15 children will use the home for day time care only, during the period from June through September.

The zoning administrator will also get a use permit request for a child care nursery school called Mary Moppet's at the southeast corner of Novato Boulevard and Eucalyptus Avenue, Novato. John Surette, a real estate man from Carmichael, will represent it. The nursery school would accommodate 65 children.

Discussion Set On Role Of OGAD

Operation Give a Damn (OGAD), a Marin City project to aid black children on the verge of despair and rebellion, will be discussed at a public meeting at 8 p.m. Wednesday by the mission committee of the Presbyterian Church of Novato, at the church.

Rev. Donald Schilling, pastor of St. Andrew Presbyterian Church at Marin City and one of the founders of the project; Thomas B. Estes of the Marin County Probation Department, and a project volunteer will speak. A question and answer period will follow.

Finley Doesn't Deny He's Trying To Buy The Seals

OAKLAND (AP) — Has Oakland Athletics owner Charles Finley entered the struggle over ownership of the Oakland Seals hockey club?

"I will not confirm or deny it," Finley said Thursday when asked if he was an unnamed third party that has offered $3.4 million for the team, plus an offer to take over the National Hockey League club's liabilities.

The Oakland Tribune, San Francisco Chronicle and San Francisco Examiner reported Finley is bidding for the Seals.

Finley was quoted by the Tribune as saying, "This isn't the appropriate time to make any statement."

$3.9 MILLION

The club was sold a year ago by San Francisco Seals Ltd. to Trans National Communications Inc. for $3.9 million plus assumption of nearly $2 million in debts.

Among the liabilities is a $1 million note which has been called by Wells Fargo Bank.

The former owners, guarantors of the note, have petitioned San Francisco Superior Court Judge Carl Allen to place the club in receivership, saying an "unnamed party" has made an offer to buy the team.

The offer, the petition says, will expire unless the sale is consummated by June 30. A hearing on the petition is scheduled next Wednesday.

Another prospective buyer, Jerry Seltzer, head of the Roller Derby, said he and from 10 to 15 others may make an offer if the club is put into receivership.

The Seals' home attendance averaged 6,495 last season, up from the 4,827 average of 1968-69. Twelve home crowds topped 8,000.

"We are not considering a sale or are we in danger of the club being taken out of our hands," said Barry Mendelson, public relations director of Trans National, based in New York.

"We hope to be able to reinstate the loan with the bank," Mendelson said. "Our merger with Atlas Financial Corp. has changed the picture.

"Atlas has money. We can't get it, but we can borrow against it. These and other sources we're exploring."

He said the NHL is "100 per cent behind us."

RYAN DAZZLES GIANTS

Phillies In Candlestick

The hard-throwing 23-y-e a r-old sealed the No. 3 spot behind Tom Seaver and Jerry Koosman Thursday, stopping the San Francisco Giants on three hits in a 4-1 victory.

"Nolan will be pitching every fifth day now," promised Manager Gil Hodges just before the Mets left for San Diego, where Seaver, 4-0, takes on Al Santorini, 1-3 and the Padres tonight.

The Giants, who drew eight walks but couldn't take advantage of the few opportunities that Ryan offered, open a four-game series here with the Philadelphia Phillies tonight.

Ryan's triumph was his third straight complete-game of the season in as many starts. He totaled only three complete games in 1968 and two last year when he hurled 89 innings and compiled a 6-3 record for the defending world champions.

Thursday's three-hitter came on the heels of a one-hit victory over Philadelphia April 18 and a two-hit loss to Los Angeles April 25.

STICKS WITH HIM

Hodges stayed with Ryan despite the pitcher's wildness and Nolan responded with e i g h t strikeouts. His season totals are a 2-1 record, 0.69 earned run average, six hits and 28 strikeouts in 26 innings.

"I make allowances for Nolan because he's so strong," says Hodges. "Most of his walks were on pitches that just missed. He wasn't wild high, for instance.

"It's just beautiful to sit back and watch him come on as a pitcher," added Hodges. "Nolan is smarter now and he's not reluctant to throw a curve in any situation."

Ryan was pleased to learn of his starting status.

"I hope so—that's why I came to spring training," he said.

"I had trouble getting the ball down in the middle innings but I had good stuff and was getting the pitches where I wanted at the finish.

"I've always had a tendency to be wild at the start of the season," he said, "but I feel I've done exceptionally well getting the curve ball over."

The Mets backed Ryan with a 10-hit attack. Tommie Agee, Cleon Jones and Joe Foy—who had been benched the first two games of the series for weak hitting—figured in all the scoring.

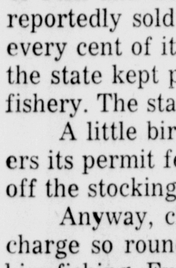

Foy's two-run single was the big blow off loser Mike McCormick, 1-2, in the first. Bud Harrelson's triple and Jones' single added a run in the fifth and Agee homered off Giants' reliever Frank Reberger in the seventh.

HITS

Hal Lanier's line-drive single to right in the third was the only Giants' hit the first six innings. Jim Davenport doubled off Agee's glove in the seventh and singled in the ninth.

"Ryan throws as hard as anyone," said Willie McCovey, Giants first baseman and the National League's Most Valuable Player last year.

"He's kind of surprising because he's not big. But he has a nice, easy motion."

JIM GILMARTIN

If You're Going Fishing Better Get There Early

If YOU're going to remain in Marin for the opening of trout season tomorrow, I suggest you go either to Lake Lagunitas or Lake Phoenix. And take every kid in the neighborhood with you.

The kindly and generous old State of California this week stocked each of those Marin Municipal Water District lakes with 5,000 catchable-sized trout, so you have a good chance at a limit.

I'd also suggest that you get there early and fish fast because most of those trout won't live to see May 3.

In the past, when the state planted 10,000 fish in a Marin lake, anglers would remove 7,000 of them in one day. At that rate, the 5,000 planted in each of Lagunitas and Phoenix should be annihilated by nightfall tomorrow.

Each of those fish, by the way, cost the state approximately 15 cents.

Adults Hit With Extra $5 Permit

Another financial item you should bear in mind is that the MMWD soaks everyone age 17 and over $5 for a lake fishing permit on top of the state's fee of $3 for an angling license and $2 worth of trout stamps — a grand total of $10.

The MMWD permit fee of $5 is among the highest in the state and is a sore point with the Department of Fish and Game, I am told. Last year the MMWD reportedly sold 4,000 permits — $20,000 — keeping every cent of it to maintain the fishing grounds while the state kept pumping wiggly 15-cent pieces into the fishery. The state is generous that way.

A little bird told me that unless the MMWD lowers its permit fee, the DFG might scratch Marin lakes off the stocking program.

Anyway, children 16 and under can fish free of charge so round up every kid you can find and take him fishing. Even if they don't want to go, drag them to the lakes and make them fish. Every kid saves $10. by fishing at a MMWD lake. Don't miss that bargain.

Togetherness For The Birds

RESULTS OF the T a m a l p a i s Homing Pigeon Club's first race of the season last Sunday show a rather startling statistic.

Birds owned by Dr. Edward Bland and Marshall Delong, both of Corte Madera, raced 105 miles from Placerville to Corte Madera in the same time of 2 hours and 50 minutes.

I mean, for two birds to fly that distance in exactly the same time leads me to believe they must have flown United.

Race officials, however, broke the tie by determining that Dr. Bland's bird traveled 1107.9 yards per minutes while Delong's pigeon was clocked at 1107.2 yards per minute.

Third place went to Bill Manges of Novato.

It was the first race in a series for what the sponsoring organization calls "old birds." I think old birds are well seasoned.

Meanwhile, did I tell you the one about these two old birds from Corte Madera who flew United and discovered that's the o-n-n-l-y way to fly . . .

It's Blues Vs. Bruins In Finals

PITTSBURGH AP — Scoring winning goals is the story of Larry Keenan's life with the St. Louis Blues. He admits he's an opportunist. But then he has to be-he never knows when he may be shipped back to the club's farm team.

His latest opportunity came Thursday night when he shoved in the winning goal with 5:35 to go in the game as the Blues edged the Pittsburgh Penguins 4-3 to advance to the National Hockey League finals with the Boston Bruins.

STOPS SHOT

Pittsburgh goalie Al Smith stopped a hard shot by Bill McCreary, but juggled the puck in his outstretched glove. The disk fell at Keenan's feet and he just nudged it into the net.

The Blues apparently believe Keenan's opportunities don't come often enough.

Three months ago he was placed on waivers. No other team claimed him, so he was sent to Kansas City, the home of the St. Louis farm club. In eight games there, he scored eight goals. The Blues quickly brought him back.

Three years ago, the Blues were fighting for a fourth place playoff berth with the Penguins. On the next to the last day of the season, the Blues met Minnesota, in third place at the time.

AGAIN

The teams played again the next day and Keenan again scored the winning goal. The Victory gave the Blues third place and the home advantage in the semifinal when they met the North Stars.

Keenan has scored six goals in the 12 St. Louis playoff games this year. In the last two years he scored four goals each time.

Last year he spent seven games in Kansas City and returned after scoring a goal and adding three assists.

"He's underrated," said Blues Coach Scotty Bowman.

The Blues defeated the Penguins to take the series by a 4-2 margin by coming from behind.

WRESTLING WITH WRISTS IN PETALUMA

That first night, the action was d i s r u p t e d when the weight of the contestants collapsed a table.

Tonight, more than 2,000 spectators, each paying $3 for admission to the Veterans Building, will witness 200 husky men grunt and groan in the annual World Wristwrestling Championships.

There also will be competition for women.

Tamalpais Golfers Win 34th

A's Glad To Leave Boston

WASHINGTON (AP) — There has been a lot of talk recently about the liveliness of the National League baseball.

Oakland Athlteics pitchers, after giving up 12 hits, including three homers and four doubles, in an 8-7 loss to Boston Thursday, can tell you the American League ball is pretty lively, too.

Jim "Catfish" Hunter, 3-2, will face Washington's sluggers tonight as the A's, happy to leave Boston after losing four games there, try to snap a five-game losing streak. Casey Cox, 3-1, is scheduled to pitch for the Senators.

THE GLUE

Creating the most fuss about the lively ball has been San Francisco Giants' p i t c h i n g coach Larry Jansen, who claims a rubberized glue, which he began to find under the cover of the NL ball last season, is to blame for the rash of home runs.

Both the NL and AL offices have denied the ball has been changed.

Rico Petrocelli, Billy Conigliaro and George Scott blasted homers for Boston. The A's also hit three—by Felipe Alou, Joe Rudi and Frank Fernandez.

A's southpaw Jim Roland, 0-1, the losing pitcher, was staked to a 3-0 first inning lead when Alou's homer scored Bert Campaneris, who had walked, and Rudi, who had singled.

LIMPING

Campaneris, walking with a slight limp, returned to the lineup after missing two weeks of action. Rudi went to left field when center fielder Rick Monday was benched for seven con-

Marin Netters In Quarter-Finals

Former Davis Cup star Barry MacKay of Ross and San Rafael High S c h o o l senior Sharon Walsh a d v a n c e d to the quarter-finals in the California Tennis Championships at Portola Valley y e s t e r d a y with straight-set victories.

The 34-year-old MacKay, a stockbroker in San Francisco, disposed of Stanford University's Bob Rippner, 6-3, 6-3, while Miss Walsh trimmed Margaret Marquette of San Francisco, 7-6, 6-1.

Marin '9' Finishes With Win

College of Marin's baseball team, which lost its first nine games of the season, finished the year yesterday by defeating Solano, 7-3 at Solano.

The Tars, who thus close the season with three wins in a row for a league record of 5 and 13, got a noble pitching effort from Jerry Goodrich, who weathered 11 Solano hits in going the distance. Jim Peters, whose pitching and hitting led the Tars all season, smashed a home run in the ninth inning for his third hit of the day. His only other homer this year also came in this park.

Rafael Gallardo had three hits in five trips for Marin, including a double.

The Kentucky Derby A One-Round Fight

THIS ISN'T the fifth at Caliente. No selling platers are loaded in the gate here. All the jockeys are trying. The stable doesn't tell the boy to skip the whip if the horse doesn't care for his company. You're not just shopping for a price here.

You can win all the stakes named after padres' missions. You can stare down the best Saratoga puts in with you. You can even win the Belmont, Preakness, the Withers. You can break clocks at the fairgrounds. You can go over the hadges anywhere in the world.

YOU WIN the Kentucky Derby and you make every other horse in the world look like he should be pulling a wagon or keeping a furrow straight. You can make $2 million in the handicap division and only the racing secretary is impressed. You win the Kentucky Derby in this crummy old bawd of a river town where they bottle whiskey and pamper horses, and every secretary in the office pool thinks you're Man O' War, Whirlaway and Citation combined.

Six hundred journalists show up to cover a one-round fight. Sneeze and you might miss the whole story. If your binoculars fog up, you might find yourself covering the 10th race, featuring four sore horses and two coughers.

THE RACE lasts two minutes—except sometimes when they can't find out the winner till a doctor gets a glass on it Monday morning. In a laboratory. 8hey still haven't figured out who won the 1969 Derby. Dancer's Image finished first, but a lot of good that did him.

They put grass in the drinks and charge double for them. It's the only place in the world you can get drunk and poison ivy at the same time. You need a rake and a gardener to drink it.

JESSE JAMES could have saved himself a lot of trouble just being a room clerk in Louisville Derby week. Bonnie and Clyde should have driven a cab here. But no one ever complains. It's Americana. Whatever that is.

The people come to handicap the horses. The pickpockets come to handicap the people. They're a lot better than the guy who hangs out the morning line. Their idea of a 4-5 shot is a guy who is so full of mint juleps he has grass stains all over his vest and has just won the daily double.

THEY STAGE both races on the river, but nobody has the oars out in the Derby itself. If a guy is pulling a horse, it's to save his run, not his money. A rider can graudate from the Charleston-Ft. Erie-Pomona circuit real easy if he gets a blanket or roses thrown over his ear.

It's harder to win than a U.S. Open or a Wimbledon or a World Series. You only get one chance at it if you're a horse. You may get a "live" horse once every five years if you're a rider. The best horse wins it no more than two out of every five races, because a piece of paper blowing across the track, a hole in the backstretch, no hole on the rail, or a jockey who whips YOU instead of his horse, has decided this race in the past fully as much as speed. The homestretch is 1,234½ feet of heartbreak. Trainers swear it's uphill.

THEY SAY they get 100,000 people at this thing. Sixty million watch it. It has been won with a syringe, a foul, and probably a battery. "They shouldn't have a race Native Dancer can't win," trainer Bill Winfrey once said—after Native Dancer lost it.

You only get one turn on the wheel here. You only hope your saddle doesn't slip, or some blinkered bitspitter entered only so his used-car dealer owner can get his name in the paper some place besides the Want Ads doesn't stop running on you as you make your move, and make you run your race through Indiana.

REGIONAL PRIDE is at stake. If a California horse is no good, maybe California is no good. If Kentucky raises better horses, maybe it raises better people. Nobody bets the race to show. There is no show in the Kentucky Derby. The oddest words in the world of racing are "I finished second in the Kentucky Derby."

I got the horse right here. I get so many leaves in my drink, snails are crawling up the glass. Never mind what he pays. This race is like the Pony Express through Sioux territory. It's glory enough just to win.

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Complete Game By A Yankee

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The New York Yankees have been waiting for Stan Bahnsen to become a complete pitcher. Thursday night he became the only one they have.

In the 21st game of the season, the Yankees finally got complete game No. 1, and it wasn't from pitching aces Mel Stottlemyre or Fritz Peterson but rather from the one-time Bahnsen burner, whose flame flickered out last season after he was 17-12 and Rookie of the Year in 1968.

The 25-year-old right-hander throttled the California Angels on five hits 1-0 and reversed his own personal shutout trend. He had been on the losing end of the two blanks the Yanks suffered earlier.

SCORES

Elsewhere in the American League, Kansas City stopped Detroit 3-2 on Bob Oliver's 10th-inning double, Washington bombed Milwaukee 12-2, the Chicago White Sox clipped Baltimore 6-3, Minnesota whipped Cleveland 4-1 and Boston outlasted Oakland 8-7.

In the National League, it was Atlanta 9, The Chicago Cubs 2; the New York Mets 4, San Francisco 1 and Los Angeles 2, Montreal 1. Houston at St. Louis was rained out and the other teams were idle.

Roy White's long sacrifice fly in the third inning following singles by Horace Clarke and Bobby Murcer gave Bahnsen his 1-0 lead and he protected it with an assortment of fast balls, curves, sliders and change-ups.

Kansas City nipped Detroit when Oliver slammed a two-out double in the 10th following a walk to Amos Otis. Otis and Joe Keough hit solo homers for the Royals in the sixth.

WEIRD PLAY

The Tigers got their first run on a weird play in the sixth. Cesar Guitierrez tripled and the Royals decided to appeal that he missed first base. But pitcher Bill Butler heaved the ball into right field and Gutierrez scampered home. They tied it in the eighth on a walk and Al Kaline's triple.

Special features you'll enjoy:
Marin is hiking country ,and for good reason. Nowhere else on earth, says Herrick Lane, retired minister and octogenarian, are better hiking trails to be found. Reverend Lane should know. He is the county's most enthusiastic hiker. And in tomorrow's issue of the Independent-Journal Marin Magazine, he suggests some trails Marinites can follow to share the pleasures of his hobby.
The plight of the young boy in a home in which there is no father present can be an unhappy, even a desperate one. One organization that is doing something to help such youngsters is Big Brothers of Marin. It is one of the newer Marin service organizations. But already it is making headway ,as you will find by reading the feature story in tomorrow's Independent-Journal weekend supplement.

Marin Lakes Stocked For Opener Tomorrow

By AL GIDDINGS

With the opening of trout season at 5:16 a.m. tomorrow, here are a few rules to remember, particularly that a license and two stamps are required; one rod, one line and not more than three hooks is the legal gear; there is no size limit; the daily bag and possession limit is 10 trout in most areas and there is no restriction on attractor blades this year.

Phoenix and Lagunitas lakes and Rodeo Lagoon are waters stocked in Marin County. Check the angling regulations for other counties opening. The season does not open until May 24 in the northwestern portion of the state except at some major lakes.

Hot spots other than in Marin County are Lake Merced in San Francisco and Lake Siskiyou, a new and heavily stocked lake in Siskiyou County.

Also, Eagle Lake in Lassen County should produce trophy fishing. Davis Lake in Plumas County again is expected to produce lots of rainbows.

In Southern California, 150,000 rainbows have been stocked in roadside waters of Mono and Inyo Counties, and 7,000 fish in the two to six pound class have been distributed in this area's roadside lakes.

THE LOCAL striped bass fishing is now at its slowest with most of the fish up in the delta on their annual spawning run.

Sturgeon fishing also is slow with so many rough fish ready to grab your bait before a sturgeon can really find it. I tried it last week with Sam Knoles of San Anselmo and was lucky taking a 40-pound sturgeon below the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge on the first cast.

We caught eight sharks, four king fish, one flounder, one perch and two bullheads.

Sam took the whole works home (except the bullheads and sharks) and ran them through his new home made smoker. Not too bad!

The local salmon fishing is good if not too windy. The commercials at Pt. Reyes did well over last weekend by getting out early before the winds came up.

Bay Area party boat catches for March were 6,709 salmon, 590 stripers and 90 sturgeon.

NATIONAL HEADQUARTERS of Ducks Unlimited reports that a $2 million allocation by its board to its D. U. construction affiliate, D. U. of Canada, is a positive step toward making the master plan for the 1970s a reality. By 1980, the plan is to control 6.5 million acres of important nesting habitat for waterfowl.

THE FISH AND GAME Department will truck four million fingerling King salmon downstream from the hatcheries in an effort to bolster future salmon runs in the Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta areas even though runs of King salmon increased sharply there last year. Approximately 322,500 adults found their way upstream in 1969 as compared to 209,200 spawners in 1968.

Paul Jensen, supervisor of the Department of Fish and Game salmon program, feels that 400,000 to 500,000 spawners could be accommodated in the Central Valley Rivers systems.

IF YOU MISSED the Ducks Unlimited ball the other night you made a mistake. It was a Polynesian night affair with a Mai Tai hour, then a real Polynesian feast which included chicken, spare ribs and roast beef.

Chairman Walter Freitas and his committee did a great job. A 10 piece orchestra also played from 9 to 1.

I'm telling you all this because next year you should be there too. The profits went to Ducks Unlimited for the purchase of a lake in Canada to be named Lake Marin. It is located in the better nesting area for the perpetuation of wild ducks.

If you're interested in joining this live-wire club you can get an application at the Western Sports Shop in San Rafael.

Tom Mack of San Anselmo was in charge of activities and he can always be dependend on to come up with something! About mid-evening he presented me with a neatly-wrapped package which attracted some attention. I opened it at the table with the help of Mat Palacio and inside was a robin. I guess Tom saved it out of his last winter's kill. They say he's quite a poacher — one of Marin's oldest.

Lee C. Johnson of Mill Valley was in charge of prizes for the raffle. One of the prizes was a trip for two to the Maxwell Hunting Club near Maxwell. The club has 18 ponds ranging from 8 to 12 acres. Each pool is planted with natural duck foods.

Do you know who won that prize Mrs. A. F. Giddings, that's who, and it couldn't have gone to a nicer lady.

Wide Open Kentucky Derby Draws Field Of 18 Horses

LOUISVILLE (AP) — A field of 18 3-year-olds, the lack of a solid favorite and Diane Crump. That's the mixture ready to boil over in Saturday's wide-open and history-making Kentucky Derby.

The catalyst is Miss Crump, who will be the first girl jockey to ride in America's most famous horse race.

Lacking an attention - getting colt, such as Majestic Prince, this 96th renewal of the Derby at Churchill Downs soared in public interest when the 21-year-old Miss Crump was named to ride W. L. Lyons Brown's Fathom.

The first colt entered Thursday for the 1¼-mile, $125,000-added classic was Sonny Werblin's Silent Screen, the 1969 juvenile champion who has won only one of four starts this year, and the last was William C. Robinson Jr.'s Admiral's Shield, winner of Tuesday's one-mile Derby Trial.

Those whose names passed the entry box in between included Samuel J. Agnew's Terlago, the Santa Anita Derby winner and the early 7-2 pick for Saturday, and Raymond Curtis' My Dad George, the 4-1 second pick who won the Flamingo, Florida Derby and Stepping Stone Purse consecutively.

If all 18 leave the gate at 5:40 p.m., EDT, the gross purse will be a Derby record $171,300, with a record $128,800 to the winner. Coverage on television will be from 5-6 p.m. and on radio from 5:30-6 p.m. CBS will handle both.

The forecast calls for mild weather with a chance of thundershowers. The usual crowd—traditionally estimated by Churchill Downs at 100,000 — will be on hand.

Also entered were the Ethel D. Jacobs pair of Personality and High Echelon, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Gary's Corn Off The Cob, Alan Magerman's George Lewis, Robert Lehmann's Dust Commander, Mrs. J. S. Dean Jr.'s Holy Land, Charles Engelhard's Protanto and Her-Jac Stable's Naskra.

Joining Fathom as field horses —horses grouped as one betting interest — were Lin-Drake Farm's Dr. Behrman, Steve Carson's and Irving Apple's Rancho Lejos, Dr. Richard Kuhn's and Walter Hickey's Robin's Bug, the Wolfson Brothers' Native Royalty and E. V. Benjamin III's and J. M. Jones Jr.'s Action Getter.

Bill Shoemaker will take Terlago out of the No. 14 post, with My Dad George just inside him under Ray Broussard. Bill Hartack will send George Lewis out of the No. 1 slot and Angel Cordero Jr. will leave No. 18 on Corn Off The Cob. Corn Off The Cob is the co-third favorite at 5-1, with High Echelon, No. 12, and Larry Adams, and Personality, No. 17, and Eddie Belmonte.

Decline In Interest Ends Marin Women's Gymnastics

By RALPH CHATOIAN

It will be the last year for competitive women's gymnastics at College of Marin, says team coach Lois "Lu" Powell, because there just isn't enough interest.

Miss Powell, women's physical education teacher and gymnastics coach at Marin for the past six years, says the interest is there for gymnastics in P. E. classes, but on a competitive level the story is different.

This year's College of Marin team has exactly three girls competing, "and because of this we can't compete on a team basis with other schools," says Miss Powell. The final meet for the girls will be tomorrow at Sacramento State College.

Marin County's high school program of girls gymnastics is just too good, Miss Powell feels, and by the time the potential gets to Marin she has had enough of actual competition.

A native of Berkeley, Lu spent most of her childhood in Napa eventually going to Napa Junior College and then Chico State College. After finishing college she enlisted in the Navy and was a WAVE for four years.

"When I was in high school I was already a tom boy," Miss Powell said, "but organized girls sports was a taboo." Now the girls have organized themselves to form their own league in Marin County. Times have changed.

After her discharge from the Navy, Miss Powell got her first teaching job, as a physical education teacher at Berkeley High School. Two years there, then came a move to Marin County and San Rafael High School for seven years. While at San Rafael High she worked toward her Masters degree at San Francisco State, then was able to move up to College of Marin.

Miss Powell, her bonde hair clipped short, is active in recreation sports, although she never has been in competitive gymnastics as a performer. The 40-year-old Miss Powell got into gymnastics when she began teaching P. E. at Berkeley High.

During her Navy days she played some high-level girls softball while stationed at the Great Lakes. Now she goes for less strenuous activities such as golf, swimming, water skiing and jogging. She spends a lot of her summers at Lake Tahoe where this type recreation is readily available.

Instead of the competitive team of women gymnasts next year, Lu plans intramural type activities, and expects four or five classes on gymnastics. There is also a possibility of a coeducational class on tumbling.

"The girls who are interested enough in high school to further their gymnastics competition go on to a four-year college," said Miss Powell. "It's time we adjust our program."

So women's gymnastics at College of Marin will remain in the classroom rather than stretching its dreams to things like victories, gold cups and Olympics.

ALMANAC

Today is Friday, May 1, the 121st day of 1970 with 244 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The evening stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1884 work began on a 10-story skyscraper in Chicago.

In 1931 the Empire State Building was dedicated in New York City. It was 1,250 feet high and had 102 floors.

A thought for the day: French novelist Remy de Gourmont said, "It is because peoples do not know each other that they hate each other so little."

Vehicle Fee Is Added In Marin

A $1 per night fee is now in effect at Mount Tamalpais and Samuel P. Taylor state parks for each extra motor vehicle brought in by a visitor using the park campgrounds, the state Department of Parks and Recreation has announced.

Under the new ruling, the department explained, a camper using a second car or a motor scooter would pay the regular three dollar campsite charge plus an additional one dollar for the second vehicle.

The fee hike was necessitated, according to the department, because of the increasing use of dune buggies, motor scooters, trail bikes and other vehicles at campsites.

Opening lead — ♣ 10

INITIAL ACTION

Goldman won the first trick with the king of clubs and planned to take the ace of spades, give up a spade and ruff two spades in dummy. He would eventually discard his last spade on dummy's ace of clubs.

Before embarking on this plan Goldman could afford to draw one round of trumps. He therefore led the ace of trumps and stopped to reconsider his plan when West dropped the ten of diamonds.

The hand was pretty hopeless if the ten was a singleton, but a safer line of play was available if West had started with the doubleton J-10 of trumps.

CHANGES PLAN

Changing his plan, Goldman led a low diamond to dummy's queen. The jack fell and declarer could afford to ruff twice in his own hand, saving dummy's nine of diamonds to draw the last trump at a later trick.

Declarer ruffed a club with the four of trumps, led a heart to the jack and ruffed a club with the king of trumps. He got back to dummy with the ace of hearts and led dummy's nine of diamonds to draw the last trump.

LOSING SPADE

Except for one losing spade dummy was now good. South made his contract by ruffing twice in his own hand instead of ruffing twice in the dummy. He would have failed ingloriously if he had tried to ruff spades in the dummy.

DAILY QUESTION

S- 92
H- A J 7
D- Q 9 7 5
C- A 9 8 6.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

The hand is not quite worth an opening bid. You would gladly bid if any small card were changed to a queen.

SUPERMARKET BUCK ROGERS

Los Angeles supermarket checker Margie Jones uses the Inventory Management Systems unit known as the 20/20V to electronically ring up prices on the cash register. Just aiming the gun at the item records its price and also keeps the store's inventory up to the second, through a computer hookup. (UPI Telephoto)

Election Campaign Issue In Marin Water District?

It would be hard to find an election that ordinarily generates less public interest and debate than that for Marin Municipal Water District directors.

This public district is governed by a five-member board, each representing a certain area within the district itself, which as a whole embraces most of the heavily populated area of Marin County south of Hamilton Air Force Base. Every two years, either two or three of the directorships come up for election. This year, the positions from Divisions 1, 3 and 4 are at stake, to be decided either at the June primary or, if no one wins a majority then, at the November general election.

In Division 3, Jordan L. Martinelli Jr. of Kentfield is unopposed for re-election. But there are four candidates in Division 1, including incumbent Leo J. Stanley of Fairfax, and four in Division 4, not including incumbent William A. Marcus of Mill Valley.

Since campaigns for the water district board seldom generate either issues or controversy, the incumbents usually win handily. Dr. Stanley, for instance, has been on the board since 1946.

THIS TIME, HOWEVER, an issue has popped up. It may affect the campaigns in both Division 1 and Division 4.

The Meadow Club, which owns an adjacent eight acres on which its clubhouse, parking lot and stables are located, has been leasing the golf course land from the water district for 40 years. Each lease has been for 10 years. The latest one expired at the end of 1969.

The Meadow Club has been paying a rental of $480 per year on the 160 acres, or $3 per year per acre. Last July 23, the district board directed that the lease be renegotiated before renewing it. Later, the board hired David G. Cohn of San Anselmo, a property appraiser, to prepare an appraisal on the land and suggest a fair rental. This month, Cohn came up with a figure of $5,000 per year.

That is more than 10 times what the club has been paying. But Norman P. Higby of San Rafael has claimed it is still far too low. Higby, a former golf course operator who needled the San Rafael City Council effectively last year over its since-abandoned plan for lease-purchase of a municipal golf course, said three other clubs in the county are paying, respectively $21,841 per year, $16,270 per year, and $20,966 per year for the use of their golf course land. He suggested the water district should put the land out to bid or else install a public golf course on it, with revenue from greens fees to be used to develop recreation on water district lands.

THIS BRINGS UP what could be a campaign issue: Is Marin Municipal Water District making the best use of its vast property for benefit of its owners, who are the people of Marin who buy its water? Is the Meadow Club lease perhaps typical of its handling of these publicly owned lands? And if so, are the water users of the district subsidizing private organizations that recieve favored treatment from the public district?

The answers to these questions could be illuminating. Marin Municipal Water District has a $4.7 million operating budget this year. That's a pretty big operation, and the voters are entitled to ask questions of those who propose to direct it. Further, they are remiss if they fail to ask.

Profligate Packaging

One of the biggest contributors to the problem of too much trash, or, in today's jargon, solid waste, is the recently evolved idea that pretty packages are necessary to sell even the most prosaic items.

Transistor radio batteries are an excellent example. In the past few years more and more batteries are appearing in the stores on a card and under a plastic bubble.

What possible use could the packaging be on batteries? It is an absolutely wasteful frill. True, it is a small item. But multiply many similar small items and we have one big headache.

Perhaps we ought to mail such items of profligate packaging back to the companies for them to dispose of. Better still, refuse to buy them if the same thing is available in a frill-less condition.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Proposition 7 Is Potentially Most Expensive On Ballot

(This is the sixth in a series of stories on the eight propositions to be voted on June 2, at the primary elections.)

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO — (CNS) — Probably the most costly measure on the ballot this year is Proposition 7, the constitutional amendment which provides for a maximum interest rate on certain state bonds of seven rather than five per cent.

At present, general obligation bonds of California, including water development bonds, can't be sold at the maximum interest rate of five per cent.

The voters therefore are being asked to raise this maximum interest rate to seven per cent to make the bonds saleable. Bidder rates are expected to range somewhere between five and seven per cent.

THIS INCREASE in rate applies only to bonds which have been authorized by the voters but have not as yet been sold. But the proposition provides also that the legislature by two-thirds vote could authorize further increases.

There are $600 million in water bonds, needed to complete the California water project; $269 million in school building aid; $200 million in veterans' farm and home loans; $75 million in state higher education construction; $75 million for state beaches and parks; $50 million for junior college construction; $30 million for the state construction program, and a million for harbor improvements.

Although the cost to the taxpayers, over and above what they voted for when the bond issues were approved, can't be estimated too accurately, the legislative analyst says that a one per cent increase in the bond rate would add $315 million to the total cost. Thus two per cent, the amount to be authorized, would run $630 million on the $1.3 billion in bonds not yet sold.

He opposes it because it provides that the legislature, by two-thirds vote, could set the interest rate for state bond sales.

"Current tax burdens are staggering," Senator Nejedly said. "The people of California justifiably demand tax relief. The taxpayers should, therefore, not permit the state legislature to arbitrarily and without limitation to add to present tax burdens by selling state bonds at unlimited interest rates for which the taxpayers will be required to pay unlimited and unknown additional charges."

Response To Union Request To Write

I am enclosing a copy of a recent open letter from San Francisco Typographical Union received by us at our residence in San Rafael.

We have followed this strike situation in some detail. I've even taken time to discuss the situation with your employees while on picket detail. To date, I've not been convinced that they have a legitimate complaint. In fact, I travel the country quite a lot on business, and it would be my wish that they could see some of the conditions millions of less fortunate citizens work under.

Be that as it may, the purpose of my letter is to compliment you and the employees on keeping our execellent newspaper alive. You've done so under conditions which would have stopped lesser individuals, which, incidentally, we are developing in far too great a number with the assistance of our national political policies and programs.

In the letter which I received, it was requested that I write to you. This I am doing; however, I'm requesting that you stick to your present policies. As a resident of San Rafae, I'm proud that we have individuals who believe in the Democratic principles on which this United States of ours was founded.

Third, in answer to the Union's suggestion, I have already advised Long's Drugs that I'm buying at their store because of their continued advertising. We will do so with all our merchants who have the backbone to resist the mob-joining hysterics who should be thanking employers such as you for an opportunity to make a living in an area as fine as ours.

You have our continued support. Thanks very much for your stand in preserving the foundations on which this country developed.

Monsignors' Words Don't Fit Church

The statements made by both Monsignor Bowe, pastor of St. Mary's Cathedral, and Monsignor Walsh, chancellor of the archdiocese, seem to indicate that in their opinion, the church can bar admittance to anyone who doesn't pass inspection.

This is flagrantly incompatible with the mission of Christ's holy Catholic church, and wholly unacceptable to men of good will, anywhere. Monsignor Walsh's ambiguous statements regarding the pastor's freedom to do as he pleases with no restrictions whatever, can say many things, none of them goood.

I hope that Monsignor Walsh was indicating complete trust in the priests of the archdiocese by that statement, not believing for a moment that any one of them would act contradictory toward their profession, and ignore the commands of the Lord they serve. I hope this is so, and I hesitate to put another construction on it.

The church's self-imposed restrictions on newsmen or any one on the other side of a strike than union members is completely preposterous, and seems an ill policy for any church. What they privately think about the matter is their business, but again, the ambiguity suggests that Monsignor Bowe's church will add its own endorsement toward union strong-arm tactics by refusing admittance to union enemies. What on earth kind of pressure is this?

I do hope that both monsignors will remember that they are supposed to be following in the steps of the Good Shepard, and find it in themselves to publicly refute the attitude implied in their statements; or at least, to clarify it.

Another Nursery School Needs Home

I read with a great deal of interest, delight, and happiness your story in the April 24 issue: titled; "Cooperative Nursery School has Home Finally." I happen to know Jo Egenberger personally and professionally, for she is the first person in my field in Marin County whom I visisted, and who encouraged me in my exciting planning of my school, six years ago. I know she is great, and the children and their parents need her. So I am very happy that they have finally found a home, as you article so well relates this story.

My interest was also personal. Our school, has been looking for a permanent home for six years, and we have 100 plus creative pre-school children and parents, who have stayed with us through three moves, and many plans. We can't in all of this big, wonderful wealthy county of Marin, find a home to rent in a suitable location. Maybe your readers could help us . . .

Behr Campaign Signs Not Massive

Bill Fusselman's column on Friday referred to Peter Behr's "massive signboard" pictured on the front page of the I-J last Tuesday. The only massive signboards pictured were the 32 square foot plywood monsters posted by judge candidates Smallman and Zunino who have still not removed these illegal signs. Peter Behr's small cardboard sign was photographed by the I-J so that it appeared to be the same size as these giant posters. Very tricky, but Bill Fusselman should know better.

Boy Scouts Help Dispose Of Papers

It should not surprise you that the scouts of Mill Valley have been doing this for a great many years. But you may be interested to know that a non-profit organization has been collecting papers in the fashion you describe for almost two years to handle the housekeeping expenses of Mill Valley's Scout Hall.

Paper collection has always been promoted as a "community service" project by scout organizations. Why not enlist the scouts in your current endeavor?

'Nixon Doctrine' Faces Tough First Test In Southeast Asia

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — The crunch for President Nixon's plans to get out of Vietnam is at hand.

The complete take-over of Cambodia by the North Vietnamese army, either with or without the connivance of the deposed Prince Sihanouk, cannot be ruled out.

THERE ARE NO LONGER any relatively easy alternatives. There are only perils for the United States — at home and at the front — in any course Richard Nixon follows.

1 — A direct, bitter and continuing confrontation between the President and the Senate Foreign Relations Committee which almost unanimously advises him not to begin it.

2 — A renewal of the divisive and massive protests demanding immediate withdrawal of all U. S. forces from Vietnam whether the South Vietnamese can defend themselves or not, creating a domestic crisis crushing all of President Nixon's hopes to get out without calamity.

3 — The possibility that however much arms and equipment we send to Cambodia would be inadequate and that before long they would end up in the hands of the Communists.

HERE ARE the consequences of doing nothing:

1 — In his April 20 report to the nation President Nixon warned the leaders of North Vietnam that if they attempted to use our continuing withdrawal to jeodardize the security of remaining U. S. troops by "increasing military action in Vietnam, in Cambodia and in Laos," he would take "strong and effective measures to deal with that situation."

Hanoi is taking such action in Cambodia and Laos and to fail to take "strong measures" could imperil the safety of American troops.

2 — It could also delay the planned withdrawal of 150,000 men in the next 12 months by slowing up the process of Vietnamization — one of the President's foremost objectives.

3 — And what becomes of the "Nixon doctrine" which the President said in his recent State of the World message to Congress means that the United States, short of the use of troops, would help the Asian nations "to defend themselves" from outside attack?

Is the first test of the "Nixon doctrine" to be marked by a stepping back by its author?

The conditions which would normally invoke the "Nixon doctrine" are present — the Cambodian government is acting to defend itself, the independence of Cambodia is important to the United States and it is being threatened by a "foreign invasion."

SECRETARY OF STATE William Rogers has told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that the view of the administration is that under existing legislation, the President can provide modest weapons aid to Cambodia but that any major flow of arms would require new approval by Congress.

This may be legally true, but it is politically unrealistic. Congress demands a role in shaping this decision and Nixon needs to share the decision with Congress unless he is to risk loosing the same forces which helped to drive President Johnson into retirement in 1968.

It is unfortunate that the first test of the "Nixon doctrine" is so tied to Vietnam. For this reason:

The explicit, avowed and clear purpose of the "Nixon doctrine" is to reduce the risk of the United States getting its armed forces involved in war by limiting our peace-keeping aid to econimic and weapons assistance.

But now there is resistance to applying the Nixon doctrine because our part in the Vietnamese war began with economic aid, from there to military aid and then into ground-troop participation.

But it doesn't have to be that way when we have served advance notice that our part in helping an Asian country defend itself is by arms aid only. This why the "Nixon doctrine" could safely apply to Cambodio, if the country and Congress are willing to let the President apply it.

Birth Rate At Record Low, But It's Still Too High

By LOUIS CASSELS, UPI Senior Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The U. S. birth rate has declined sharply during the past 12 years and now stands at the lowest level in history.

Even so, the number of births continues to exceed the number of deaths by a substantial margin. Last year, for every 1,000 persons in America, there were 17.6 births and only 9.6 deaths.

This means the U. S. population is growing at a rate of about one per cent a year.

A one per cent growth rate doesn't sound like much — until you reflect that if it continues it will double the population within the next 70 years.

The only way to stop the population from growing is to persuade American families to have fewer children. At present, the number of children per family averages out to 3.2. To stabilize the size of the population, it would be necessary to bring that average down to 2 children per family. At that level, each generation would produce just enough children to replace itself.

Various answers have been put forward.

The Rev. Michael Hamilton, a canon of Washington Cathedral, says churches should make a moral issue of family limitation, teaching their members that it is irresponsible in a world of limited resources to have more than two children per family.

Others think economic arguments may have more impact than moral suasion. A cogent economic argument for family limitation can be found in a recent study by the Institute of Life Insurance. It indicates it will cost about $26,000, at today's price levels, to feed, clothe, house and care for one child from birth to age 18. The $26,000 figure, incidentally, is for a middle-income family. In higher income brackets, the cost of rearing a child to age 18 would come to more than $50,000.

A third approach is proposed in legislation introduced in the Senate recently by Sen. Robert W. Packwood, R-Ore. Under this bill, parents would be allowed to claim a $1,000 income tax exemption for their first child, $750 for a second child, $500 for a third child, and no exemption for any children beyond three. Thus, instead of granting a flat $600 exemption for each child regardless of number, as it does at present, the government would offer parents a tax incentive for having small families.

Tax experts doubtless could contrive other and even more effective methods of encouraging family limitation. With taxes of all types taking nearly a fourth of the average family's total income, there is virtually no objective the government cannot achieve through manipulation of tax benefits.

The Painting Wasn't Great — But Look Who Painted It

When Bob Herr walks into thrift shops or antique stores these days, proprietors eye him a bit warily—and with good reason. Recently Herr, owner of Bay Scape, a Sausalito landscaping firm, purchased a mundane-looking painting of mountains, a lake and proverbial gnarled cypress tree from a local shop for $7.

What caught Herr's eye was not the picture, but the signature: Joaquin Miller, which no one in the shop had happened to notice. It turns out the painting is indeed by Miller, one of the very few painted by California's poet laureate of the late 19th and early 20th century.

Naturally, Herr has communicated with art experts and appraisers who say the work is valuable, but so rare that its worth is difficult to judge. Figures of between $2,500 and $8,000 have been mentioned, however, making that recent excursion a shopping trip to remember.

THE RECENT ARSON fire at Stinson Beach School damaged or destroyed many projects of the youngsters, including the only copy of a 20-minute black and white and color film which the students had just completed on the difference between country and city life.

The same sick person who set the fire also stole the school's projector, according to Mrs. Nancy Sullivan, Stinson's head teacher. But plans are already afoot to replace the project and to make another film, which Mrs. Sullivan predicts will be even better than the one that was lost.

The blaze also claimed three guinea pigs in the children's small zoo, a very sad experience to the children who had cared for them. Fortunately, a family of white mice and two baby cottontail rabbits escaped, since all had been taken home for the weekend. The guinea pigs were buried on the school grounds and pupils held a memorial service this week. The culprit who set the fire is still at large, but Stinson youngsters are among the many who would like to meet him face to face.

"THE PIT of Despair," a drug abuse film being circulated by the Marin County schools office, is making the rounds of southern Marin schools and it may be one of those well-intentioned efforts that do more harm than good.

Teachers report that students, especially those who have had any experience with marijuana, are rolling in the aisles at the film's portrayal of the effects of a few puffs of pot. The sequence shows a boy barely able to walk down the street, bumping into people and nearly falling on his face.

Consequently, teachers say, the movie's real message on the dangers of heroin addiction is being missed by youngsters who are "turned off" by the marijuana scenes.

SAUSALITO POLICE had a welcome and refreshing experience this week when they were given a chocolate cake by a grateful Seattle man whose camper they recovered minutes after it was stolen from the Trident parking lot. The top of the cake was inscribed: "To the Sausalito police: We love you." The man was especially happy with the quick police action, since his personal belongings and two hunting dogs were in the camper.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Study Showed Zucker Plan For Creek Project Too Costly

Fusselman

The June primary election is just around the corner — a few days more than a month. The election of a supervisor for the first district is important to the entire county. I said this last month and want to say it again with emphasis.

Paul C. Zucker, who is running against the chairman, seems to think he can hoodwink folks by generalizing about the board not taking his advice. As usual there are two sides to the coin, and I use the word "coin" for a reason.

He flits around with a casual wave of the hand, making statements that don't stand up when considering what he is implying. As an example:

WHILE SPEAKING at Redwood High School on "Earth Day" he criticised the board for failing to follow his recommendations "for the good of all Marin." He said he had called for a special design study of Corte Madera Creek in 1966. ("Good for all Marin"?)

He implies that nothing was done about this. Not so. A study sufficiently detailed to show that to change the course around the College of Marin, as he recommended, would cost an additional $250,000. Then at the Ross sector another $1 million to $1.5 million.

His philosphy has always been: Cost? So what? Even his "liberal" buddies, who allegedly ran the board after 1964, wouldn't buy his creek idea. Where was the money coming from? said they. Yet he attempts to load this on the present board.

Always he held himself aloof from both the planning commission and the supervisors.

He didn't consult them often enough nor long enough to make any weighty recommendations. Don't be kidded.

THE "TRANSIT STUDY" story in the I-J this week is the $111,000 balanced transportation study discussed in a recent column. It covers a 50-year span. This sort of study makes a nice conversation piece. I have watched the growth of Marin for the last 50 years and can tell you people don't do what planners think they will.

The assumption of this one is that there will be no new transit ideas developed. There can be totally new areas appear as more attractive to the then population. There can be a renaissance of the major cities, because of the economics involved.

There is a danger in going overboard on expensive plans for the future. The planners are not that omniscient.

HAVE A LOOK: Early in October of '69, this in the I-J: "County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker and most of his staff meet with the county planning commissioners en masse this morning for the first time since 1966." Again in the I-J a week later:

"He (Zucker) appeared before the board of supervisors in a workshop meeting." He graciously told them according to the story, "Obviously we have to have a dialogue." It had taken him four yearly budget meetings to admit the need of talking things over.

Plea Issued To Clear Debris

Weeds and debris must be cleared from all vacant lots and areas between the sidewalk and curb in San Rafael, Norris M. Rawles, public works director, announced today.

Rawles asked that residents comply with the city ordinance immediately to help eliminate the costly procedure involving the mailing of notices and the followup check by city crews.

Rawles said the "great majority of property owners do clear their own property," but he wanted to alert them that this is the time when weeds are an unsightly nuisance and become a fire hazard.

If weeds are not cleared 10 days after a notice is filed, the work is done by city crews and the owner billed.

Reputed Mafia Pickets Parade

NEW YORK (AP) — A picket line that appeared in front of the Manhattan office of the FBI Thursday was led by reputed Brooklyn Mafia boss Joseph Columbo.

"Time Has Come for Italians to Take a Stand," "Why Are Only Italian-Americans Involved in Organized Crime" and "FBI Hoover, Why Frame Italians?" read their signs.

The demonstration began about two hours after agents arrested Colombo's son, Joseph Jr., 23, and two other men for conspiring to melt down $500,000 in U.S. silver coins and sell the silver.

Anthony Columbo, the accused's brother, arrived with the first wave of pickets about 7:15 p.m. and 15 minutes later his father joined the line. So did the boys' mother who shouted repeatedly, "Give me my son back!"

At the height of the demonstration the pickets numbered about 100 and they continued to march until 2:20 a.m. today, hurling epithets at anyone who looked like an agent, an agent said.

The elder Columbo, 47, is believed to be a member of the nine-man governing board of the Mafia's worldwide activities. He was last arrested April 10, on an income tax evasion charge, and is free on bail pending trial.

Arrested with Joseph Jr. were Rocco Miraglia, 43, and Joseph Iannacci, 39, all of Brooklyn. Each was charged with interfering with interstate commerce by using threats or force and with illegally melting silver coinage. The silver is worth more than the face value of the coinage.

Red Leader's May Day Pitch—Peace

MOSCOW (AP) — Communist party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev appealed to thousands of workers in Red Square today to "let May Day serve as a call for peace."

Standing on Lenin's tomb wtih the rest of the party's 11-man Politburo, Brezhnev declared that the Communist world has proved to be the "decisive force against imperialism."

He also expressed Soviet support for the Vietnamese Communist and for the Arab peoples, but he did not attack any countries. His low-key speech was in keeping with the peaceful tone of last year's May Day celebration, when the Kremlin dropped its traditional military parade.

Brezhnev opened the celebration with a "big militant greeting" to the Communist world, which he said is "increasing and strengthening its solidarity." He was flanked by Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and President Nikolai V. Podgorny, as custom demands.

"True to the cause of peace and friendship of peoples, true to the principles of internationalism, our Communist party and the entire Soviet people will press further for the rallying of all forces of progress in the struggle against imperialism and the danger of war," Brezhnev declared.

The parade was also nonmilitary this year. Schoolgirls with hoops and workers marched in formation through the square after Brezhnev's 10-minute speech.

Many carried banners bearing such slogans as "Glory to the Soviet People" and "Long Live the Unity and Solidarity of the Party and the People."

During the parade, a group of young girls carrying flowers ran up the steps to the top of the mausoleum and presented the bouquets to the Soviet leaders.

Then several hundred other girls in formation on the square chanted loudly: "The Communist party of the Soviet Union! Glory! Glory! Glory!"

"Workers of the World Unite," said one huge cloth banner.

"Glory to Our Soviet Troops," another declared.

Brezhnev's speech and more than an hour of the parade was on national television. Parades were also televised from Leningrad, the Ukrainian capital of Kiev, and Riga, the capital of Soviet Latvia.

Zodiac's Latest Threat: To Bomb A School Bus

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The mysterious Zodiac killer, who claims 10 victims and is sought for five, has threatened to bomb a school bus unless he receives publicity.

"I would like to see some nice Zodiac buttons wandering around town," he said in a message disclosed by police Thursday night at a news conference.

Homicide inspector William Armstrong said Zodiac made the threat in another of his printed notes to the San Francisco Chronicle. On the front of a comic "get well" card the bragging killer wrote, "I hope you enjoy yourselves when I have my blast."

Armstrong said three previous messages sent by the killer carried threats to bomb a school bus, but the information was withheld through cooperation with the news media in order to avoid panic.

It was decided to make the threat public because of the apparent desire of the killer for publicity, Armstrong said. Zodiac said he planned a "death machine" which would explode as a school bus passed over the road where it was placed. He demanded that details of the plan be publicized and Zodiac buttons be worn, "If you don't want me to have this blast."

"Everyone else has these buttons like 'Peace', 'Black Power,' 'Melvin East Blubber,' etc.," the note said. "Well, it would cheer me up considerably if I saw a lot of people wearing my button. Please no nasty ones like Melvin's."

Armstrong said police have no clues other than the letters, but "we are learning more about his psychological makeup with each letter."

The five slayings definitely attributed to the Zodiac killer include the fatal shooting of a young couple in a Vallejo lovers' lane on Dec. 20, 1968; the shooting death of another young woman in another lovers' lane near Vallejo July 5, 1969; the fatal stabbing of a girl near Lake Berryessa Sept. 27, 1969; and the shooting of a San Francisco taxi driver Dec. 20, 1969.

The killer sent bloody portions of the taxi driver's shirt in subsequent letters, and threatened in one to shoot a busload of children.

Jail Term On Drug Charges

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court on Wednesday ordered two men arrested in a $5,000 marijuana raid in a Stinson Meach motel in December 1968, to jail for six months.

Paul Stanton Gladman, 22, of Stinson Beach, and Robert Leighton Leoni, 23, of Bolinas, were also placed on probation for one year.

Gladman had earlier admitted two counts of sale of pot and a charge of offering to sell LSD was dismissed. Leoni had pleaded guilty to furnishing marijuana and a count of possessing the drug for sale was dismissed.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Marin Dining And Wining

It's Already Time To Plan For Reservations For Mother's Day

Mother's Day is only a weekend away and it's not too soon to make reservations, for this is one of the two busiest days of the year for restaurants — at some places even surpassing Easter.

Among those dineries already receiving reservations is Bill and Adolph's West End Villa in San Rafael. Look for a full house, with dinner service starting at 2:30 p.m.

Looking forward to the fair weather months, co-owner Bill Bisson is now planning for two "family nights" a week here. These will probably be on Sundays and Thursdays. Special menus will be worked out and when these are decided upon, we'll discuss them.

I certainly hope Bill's "chicken in the pot" is included. But of course you can order that at any time — and if you haven't, you should. This is definitely a "home" dish — but how often do you have it at home these days?

One of the West End's most popular food features now is the cannelloni to take out. It's one of Bill's pet projects and he spends a good portion of his time handling it. He's here early in the morning to start preparing it, for the call is tremendous. The cannelloni is put up in special containers and requires only minimum preparation before serving.

Interesting personality at West End is Chuck Butts at the bar. Here's a man who has probably had larger sums of cash in his hands than anyone you know. As a former courier he has carried millions of dollars all over the country.

But even money can lost its glamor when you never have a chance to remain at home. Chuck is now quite happy to change a simple $20 bill right where he is.

KIRBY AND RENEE ATTERBURY will keep the Caprice in Tiburon open on Mother's Day for dinner, with service from 4 p.m. Make reservations. Ordinarily the Caprice is closed on Sundays.

LIN FA GARDENS at Northgate Shopping Center, usually closed Sundays, will open for Mother's Day and serve dinners from 2 p.m. But it will close the following Monday.

I was sorry to hear that Ethel Barrie has been housebond with a back injury. She hopes to return by Mother's Day, but if you don't see her you'll understand why.

During her absence the restaurant is under the capable management of Walter Choy, who has the rare and valuable talent of seeming to be at several places at the same time. He's hard to slow down.

A NEW OWNERwas scheduled to take over Ernie's Locust Coffee Shop in Mill Valley today.

Ernie Morrison and Jack Cannon, who operated here for eight years and another five years before that on the Bridgeway in Sausalito, are off on a long tour of the United States and then to Hawaii for several months. All this may take half a year or longer.

They still have ties in Marin and I fully expect to see them return and probably open another establishment in the county late in the year.

New owner is Ashod A. Hadjian, who previously had a coffee shop in San Francisco. He plans on moving his family to Mill Valley Ernie's will probably be dropped from the restaurant name for the time being, with Locust Coffee Shop remaining. Or — there may be an entirely new name decided upon.

JUST THE OPPOSITE from the previous corrections, London Arms on the San Anselmo Miracle Mile is no longer open on Mondays. After three busy years of working seven days a week, Don and Betty Johnson decided they were entitled to one day of rest.

CONGRATULATIONS to popular entertainer Mark Williams who completed his third year at the Windjammer in Tiburon last week. No one has to "sell" Mark's piano playing — it sells itself.

THE REDWOOD RESTAURANT, as previously mentioned here, has been taken over by new owners Joeen Arnone, Bob Dean and Leon Alvey. Remodeling on this downtown Mill Valley establishment should begin soon. Meanwhile it is open daily from 6 a.m. for breakfast, lunch and dinner.

The Frank Rodarte family that was managing the Redwood at night for former owner Lou Gorman and serving Mexican food is now out of the restaurant business. But I am informed the members are negotiating for another location and hope to open their own place soon — probably somewhere in central Marin. They'll be serving Mexican food again.

THE GIANTS BOOSTER CLUB meets for dinner on the first and third Wednesday of each month at Rubini's in Fairfax. Appropriately the new banquet room here has been named the Giant Booster Room (or at least the group claims that distinction since it virtually takes it over on those occasions). Owners Dick Templeton and Gordon Jones themselves are ardent Giant boosters.

Affairs are informal and not official club functions. If you'd like to join, talk to either Dick or Gordon about this. Beginning on May 20 there will be some type of entertainment every Booster night — a movie, a guest from the Giants management, a ball player maybe or some other sports figure.

GUITARIST Cy Timmons of Greenbrae has been appearing at the Purple Onion in San Francisco, joining Japanese songstress Yukiko and the Jiants, a satirical revue group.

The Purple Onion is owned by Bud Steinhoff of Mill Valley, who has a long list of talent discovery credits.

HOME WINE MAKERS may now secure permium varietal concentrates from a San Francisco company, Wine Art of America at 4324 Geary Street, enabling them to produce up to 30 bottles in their own kitchens without special equipment.

This year three varietals are available — Chenin Blanc, Zinfandel and Ruby Cabernet. Later you'll probably be able to get Pinot Noir and Cabernet Sauvignon as well.

Making wine at home does require a federal permit but there is no charge for it and you're allowed to produce 200 gallons a year. The applicant must be the head of a household and file on form 1541 in duplicate with the Internal Revenue Service, Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms Division, 450 Golden Gate Avenue, San Francisco.

You can phone here to have forms mailed to you and after completing and signing them they may be sent back by mail. Or you can appear in person and have everything done at once. One copy will be validated and returned to you — that's your permit.

WORD FROM GREGORY'S RESTAURANT in Corte Madera is that chef Bernard Epstein will have a special Mother's Day menu with nine different entree choices: Hungarian goulash, Beef Burgundy, cross ribs of beef, veal roast, chicken cacciatora (all these at $5 on the complete dinner and $4 a la carte), along with chicken, beef brochettes, pepper steak, New York steak and chopped sirloin.

San Rafael Fire Losses Off For Year

Fire losses in San Rafael totaled $313,600 during 1969, about $130,000 less than 1968, according to the annual report issued this week by Fire Chief Vance Trivett.

Trivett said the reduction was due to decrease in the number of large fires during 1969. "In 1968 we had a couple of fires which really shot the figure up. This year the only major fire we had was the tire shop fire in July," he said.

He was referring to the fire which caused $150,000 damage to the Brodie and Schwerin San Rafael Tire and Brake Co.

Fire damage to commercial structures and apartments totaled $218,280 last year, as compared to $330,785 in 1968, and damage to dwellings totaled $95,320, as compared to $113,235 in 1968.

During the year, the chief said the department responded to 1,213 calls, 176 more than in 1968, with 521 of them fire calls and 692 nonfire calls.

Of the fire calls, 139 were structure fires, 130 brush and grass fires, and 135 vehicle fires.

Israelis In Lebanon Raid

TEL AVI V(AP) — An Israeli army unit moved a mile into Lebanon early today and blew up the home of a "terrorist collaborator," the military command said.

A spokesman said the raiding party returned safely from the small Lebanese village of Houle, just west of the thumb of Israeli territory that juts northward into Lebanon. He charged that terrorists were using Houle as a staging area for attacks on "civilian settlements in Israeli territory."

It was the second Israeli raid into Lebanon in eight weeks.

A Lebanese military spokesman in Beirut reported that the Israelis are installing barbed wire along the 50-mile Israel-Lebanon border. The spokesman said the barrier was going up from east to west, but he did not say when they began it or how much they had completed.

The Palestine guerrillas' Armed Struggle Command claimed that Al Fatah guerrillas shot down an Israeli fighter-jet over southern Lebanon Thursday, and said two commandos were killed and three wounded when Israeli warplanes staged an hour-long raid in the area.

There was no Israeli confirmation of either report from Beirut. The only air activity reported by Tel Aviv was an Israeli raid Thursday night on Egyptian artillery and mortar positions in the northern and southern sectors of the Suez Canal.

In Amman, a Jordanian army spokesman said Jordanian forces repelled Israeli troops who tried to cross the cease-fire line at Ghoralsafi south of the Dead Sea around midnight.

The spokesman said there was a 20-minute mortar duel and one Jordanian soldier was wounded.

A two-pound explosive charge erupted in a restaurant in Arab East Jerusalem today, causing no casualties and little damage. There have been few bombings in Jerusalem in the last two years.

Prison Wedding

RAGUSA, Sicily (UPI)—Paolo Casaroli, 44, one of Italy's most notorious bank robbers, got married Thursday in prison. He wed Giulia Gigliola Pasinetti, 36, who wrote him after reading a magazine article of his exploits. Casaroli is serving life for murder.

Change In Trying Of Civilians

Col. Lee A. Sarter Jr., base commander, said civilians accused of misdemeanors such as shoplifting, trespassing, traffic violations and malicous mischief will go before the U. S. commissioner from California's Northern District, who will hear cases on the base.

Previously, these persons were either turned over to Novato police or federal authorities, depending upon the location and seriousness of the crime.

Civilians, including dependents and nonmilitary employees, must hire their own defense attorneys and the procedure is separate from military courts, Sarter said. Persons found guilty would serve time in a local jail and fines would go into the federal treasury.

Sarter said the procedure, in use at the Presidio of San Francisco since 1965, was necessitated by an increase in minor crime on the base.

"Regrettably, I must conclude that a percentage of military personnel stationed at Hamilton apparently have no control whatsoever over their dependent spouses, children and civilian associates," Sarter said in the base newspaper, Intercept.

Felony offenders will still be handled in U. S. District Court in San Francisco.

Firm In Santa Rosa Apparent Building Winner

The Colombini bid was $53,000 while the architectural firm of Lieb and Quaresma had estimated the work at $60,000. Second in the field of five bidders was James Construction, Santa Rosa, at $56,790.

The addition will include two more bays for parking equipment, three offices and enlarged dining facilities for firemen. Fire Chief Roscoe A. Benton said that alternate bids totaling $3,200 may be included in the contract to reroof and paint the entire fire station.

The bids will be considered for awarding by the city council at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

Dialogue On Closing Of Small School

An ad hoc parents committee, concerned about the Reed School District's decision to close Tiburon School, met last night with the school's principal and three board members.

Barbara Gnoss, one of the group, said the parents filled the library at Tiburon School and discussed for two hours with Edward Mosconi, principal, the school's closure this fall.

School board chairmas Leo Souza also attended the meeting and said it was an "unemotional forum at which parents voiced concerns and Mosconi gave the educational reasons for closing the school."

These include the small size of the school (three teachers, 80 students) which still requires backup services such as custodians, a library and nursing care; the financial gain to be realized, $6,000 a year plus $4,000 from leasing the property, totaling $10,000 or "enough to pay for another teacher," according to Souza, and the closeness of Reed School, to which the Tiburon School children would be transferred.

Mrs. Gnoss said the parents hope to attend Tuesday's board meeting and request reconsideration of the decision at the board's May 19 meeting.

Riles Claims Rafferty Muzzled Marin Aide

Max Rafferty, state superintendent of public instruction, was accused today of attempting to muzzle the director of a Marin County social studies project because he allegedly feared statewide expansion of the educator's innovative program.

The charge was made by Wilson Riles, Rafferty's foe in the June 2 election, at a San Francisco news conference.

Riles asserted that Rafferty objected to an updated statewide curriculum proposed by G. Sidney Lester, who is now experimenting with the project in Marin County schools while working out of the office of County Supt. Virgil S. Hollis.

Riles said Rafferty and his "lieutenants" first attempted two months ago to forbid Lester from leaving Marin and from "speaking, publishing or engaging on organizational activities."

This was tried, Riles charged, by seeking Lester's signature on a contract renewing federal funding for the project and including those restrictions. Under the project, the state's stamp of approval is required. Riles called the contract a "pen and paper guillotine."

Lester challenged the legality of the contract, hired an attorney and refused to sign, Riles said, resulting in a second contract stipulating that he must have written approval to engage in activities outside the county. Lester signed it.

According to Riles, Lester, who is past president of the California Social Science Association, is working on a more flexible method of teaching social studies that would involve the business community and instruction outside the classroom.

Lester declined comment on Riles's allegations today, referring inquiries to his superior, Stanley Friese, Hollis's deputy. But Friese did not return a reporter's telephone call.

Rafferty could not be reached for comment.

Marin, A County On Wheels

By HARRY CRAFT

Marin County continues to be a county on wheels, with a passenger car for every two persons and a truck for every 16.

Among all Bay Area counties, only in San Mateo County is there a higher ratio of automobiles to population. Marin suburbs must rely on motor vehicles to solve their basic transportation problems in spite of smog and air pollution risks.

Fortunately, the newer the automobiles the kinder they are to the atmosphere. Five model 1970 cars spew out fewer hydrocarbons than one new car did in 1960. Continuing improvements in this field promise a dip below 1940 emission levels by 1976 and General Motors engineers believe the problem will be licked by 1980.

Some faithful old cars may seem to hold up and serve their masters well. Undoubtedly they do in most respects — except for "bad breath." It is a sad but true fact of life that the sooner they are honorably retired that much sooner will we begin to inhale more comfortably and safely.

Marinites are good car buyers and they can afford new cars. Not all of them buy locally, but most persons who work in the county do. And there is a large number of reliable dealer showrooms from which to fill their needs.

Since our last special edition on automobiles, several dealer changes have occurred.

A new agency in Greenbrae, Checker Sales of Northern California, has been appointed to handle the sturdy Checker manufactured by Checker Motors Corp. of Kalamazoo, Mich., producer of cabs and limousines.

Chrysler products were given up last year by Novato Chrysley - Plymouth - Toyota, Inc., which then shortened its name to Novato Toyota, Inc., remaining a dealer for the Japanese-manufactured cars.

Another Chrysler - Plymouth agency was given up in Corte Madera by Doug Dicker,who now maintains a dealership in San Rafael for Fiat and Alfa Romeo imported cars.

Corte Madera Chrysler-Plymouth is now the sole agency for these cars in Marin. It is headed by Robert R. Doleshal.

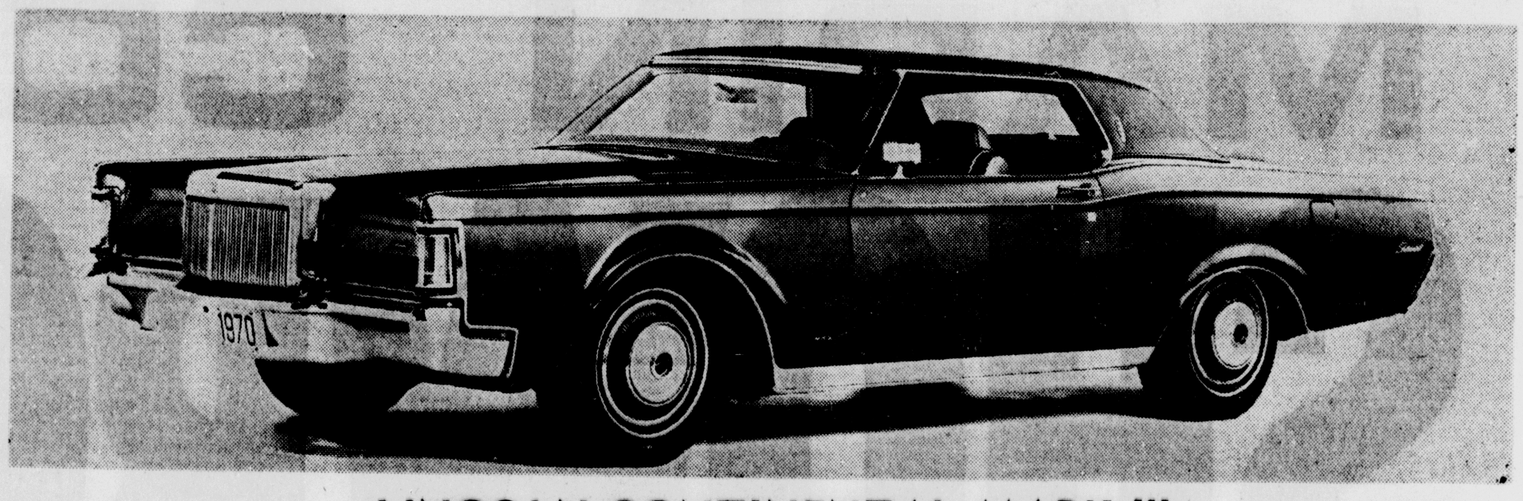

Before our last automobile edition, Rossi Motor, Inc. had given up its agency for International to concentrate entirely on Mercedes-Benz. That International agency has now been franchised to Isi-Wisnes, Inc. of San Rafael, newly organized from a previous tow truck service and repair business.

A recent change to take place was the sale of Ames Ford Sales in San Rafael. The new firm is Lyons-Ryan Ford, Inc., whose principals have been Ford dealers in the midwest.

And within the last month, Marin Dodge, Inc., San Rafael has changed hands, though the name remains the same. New owner Charles Burris is from Sacramento where he was manager for Swift Dodge.

These and other established Marin County dealers will join in showing off their mid-1970 models for the next week with special inducements and expanded inventories. Among the new models you will find cars that were not represented or were not in production a year ago — Japan's tiny Subaru, American Motors' new subcompact, the Gremlin; Ford's new Maverick and from Europe the Ford-manufactured Capri.

All American makes will be available and most of the popular foreign cars. They won't be grouped together under one roof as in the customary auto show, but the Marin dealers who sell them are conveniently located within range of most residential areas. If you are not able to drive there to see them — you do need a new car!

LINCOLN CONTINENTAL MARK III

The Mark III maintains its classic elegance this year with modest design modifications. Changes include new concealed windshield wipers, new wheel covers and redesigned tail and parking lamps. Michelin steelbelted radial tires are standard equipment.

Makers Join In Auto Theft Curbs

The constant struggle to control car theft gained new impetus from the automobile industry with the introduction of the 1970 models. Automobile manufacturers, in cooperation with law enforcement agencies, have major product changes aimed directly at curbing the rising rate of car thefts.

Vehicle thefts cost the public an estimated $250 million in direct losses each year. More than 10 percent of the accidents involving stolen vehicles result in injury to one or more persons.

Last year marked a new level of achievement by the motor vehicle industry in combating the rising theft rate. Mechanical innovations coupled with improved vehicle identification systems, helped reduce the incidence of theft.

The most visible change in new cars is the incorporation of a steering and transmission lock into the ignition system. The ignition key mechanism is armor plated and integrated into steering column design.

These changes were installed in some 1969 models and auto thefts were cut significantly.

About 40 percent of the stolen cars are left by owners with the keys in the ignition. Manufacturers have also developed an audible warning device that lets the driver know before he leaves the vehicle that he has left the key in the ignition.

The location and design of locking buttons on doors have been changed. New window design (with elimination of "vent" windows) makes it much more difficult to tamper with these buttons — a common practice of thieves.

In all cases, the number of key combinations has been greatly increased by manufacturers to further thwart thieves who formerly relied on so-called master keys or similar devices.

While 90 percent of car thefts can be called "amateur" crime, the rate of professional theft for resale of all or parts of cars continues to increase.

To defeat the professional thief, record keeping of vehicle identification numbers has been greatly expanded.

All new cars have a vehicle identification number in uniform locations. These numbers are clearly visible from the exterior of the car. They are on top of the instrument panel at a corner of the windshield.

The changes on new vehicles are expected to bring about dramatic decreases in vehicle thefts as old cars are replaced by newer models on the road. The changes give particular promise to reducing the amateur element in this crime.

SUBARU STAR STATION WAGON

This Subaru model is one of a series of Japanese vehicles that run from a popular two-cylinder, two-stroke "mini," to the larger Star models. The station wagon has a four-cylinder opposed engine in the front and offers up to 40 miles per gallon of gas. It also has front wheel drive.

OPEL'S PERFORMANCE CAR

The Opel GT, introduced a year ago in limited numbers, has been given a number of interior refinements for 1970. Standard transmission is a four-speed, fully synshronized manual shift with a short throw gearshift. Automatic transmission is available with optional larger engine.

Tire Rotation Will Mean Longer Life

It's easy enough. Just rotate your tires. This benefit will result whether you use a four-tire or five-tire rotation program.

Rotation every 5,000 miles will prolong tire life because it will provide more uniform wear. Front tires will show the most wear on the outer shoulders from cornering while rear tires will have added wear in the center portion of the tread because of the power thrust from the rear axle. Newer tires are designed for greater traction through the added width, deeper treads and more circumferential grooves.

Plastic License Gets A Break

Simplifying matters for the driver who has chosen to encase his license in plastic but who has recently changed his place of residence, a special form now eliminates his having to apply for a duplicate license.

Now he just has to attach this form to his plasticized license, which was considered to be "mutilated" for the purpose of adding new information.

How to get this form? As soon as the Department of Motor Vehicles receives your report of a change in address, a must within 10 days after moving, they will issue you Form DL-43 if you let them know that you have a plasticized license.

TOYOTA'S NEW MARK II

Slightly larger and more powerful than the "bread and butter" Corona, the new Toyota Mark II series is imported in three models — two-door hardtop coupe, four-door sedan and four-door station wagon shown above. It features a 108-horsepower, water cooled, four-cylinder engine that delivers a maximum speed of 105 miler per hour and a cruising speed of 85 miles per hour.

TOYOTA'S TOP MODEL — Restyled for 1970, the new Crown four-door sedan features a newly designed front grille and rear deck. It is still shorter than most American smaller cars, with an overall length of 183.7 inches.

IMPROVED FOR 1970—Horsepower and torque increases of 22 per cent mark the major changes in the 1200 Toyota Corrolla series. Models also display exterior trim modifications. Automatic transmission is available on the two-door sedan above and Sprinter models.

Conversion To Propane Means Cheaper Driving

Interesting news for traveling salesmen and automotive fleet owners is contoined in results of recent ecosomy tests with a new sedan modified to run on either propane or gasoline. The car was converted for comparative air pollution emission tests in California.

COST OF OPERATION using the LP-gas was $1.80 per hundred miles compared to $2.35 for gasoline. In carefully conducted tests the car was routed over city streets, highways and freeways in California and Arizona. Driving was pegged by the speedometer at posted speed limits to assure realistic fuel consumption figures.

Miles per gallon on gasolin was 16.55 while operation propane recorded a 14.61 ... age. Cost per mile was based on actual pump prices at the time of purchase. At an average 26.4 cents per gallon including tax, propane was 13.6 cents cheaper than the premium gasoline.

Western Liquid Gas Association, sponsor of the test, claims that lower cost per mile is only part of the economy picture, that the use of propane, which has no lead or additives and enters the carburetor as a dry gas, gives longer engine life and reduces repair and maintenance costs.

Commerical truck fleets using LP-gas report 6,000 to 10,000 miles between oil changes because the gas deposits much less carbon and sludge.

TESTS HAVE SHOWN that cars using propane have one-third to one-half the hydrocarbon emission levels found in ... operating on gasoline. L... reported.

gas equipment utilizes a sealed flow system with automatic shutoff valves. This is said to eliminate evaporation losses from fuel tank and carburetor which represent 15 per cent of air pollution emission from automobiles.

Conversion costs to utilize LP gas are from $200 to $300 per vehicle. It is believed these will be balanced by the lower maintenance and operating costs. Equipment for passenger cors is produced by several manufactures. Trucks and vans facory-equipped to operate on propane can be purchased from major Detroit motor car companies.

NO LOSS IN acceleration or pefroamnce with propane has

Groovy Freeway A Safer Road

To prevent tires from skidding and, in turn, cars from spinning out of control, engineers roughened up this stretch of roadway just enough to eliminate the skimming effect. And how did they accomplish this? By cutting grooves, of course.

In the 12 months prior to treatment, a shocking number of accidents occurred at this site, 52 in all. But, during the same period of time following treatment the collisions numbered only eight.

Believe it or not, the total bill for this improvement ran to just $1,837.

Master Thieves

To guard against car thieves who might have access to so-called master keys, the number of key combinations in use has been greatly increased by manufacturers. In many cases, code numbers on the face of locks, which give the keymaker the combination to a key, have been removed. Thieves have been known to have their own code books, master keys, and even portable key-making equipment for on-the-spot duplication.

The 1893 Duryea was the first American automobile.

Recovery Rate

Although the stolen vehicle recovery rate is 90 per cent, police report that four out of five thieves go uncaught. New methods for identifying stolen vehicles and parts are now in use. These methods may provide better records from which to work in fighting theft. Theft information is computerized in many municipalities. This allows for faster tracing of missing cars and elusive thieves.

Be Sure Of Ratings In Replacing Bulbs

When a bulb — tail light, dashlight, or any other kind — has burned out, the careful motorist will not throw it away the instant it is removed from its socket.

Before doing so, he will notice its specifications so that the one used in replacement is of exactly the same power. Car manufacturers are specific in stating just what size and type of bulb shall be used. Since they have arrived at their decisions as a result of thorough study, the motorist would do well to abide by their directions.

Motor vehicle registrations in the United States are estimated at 105 million.

Reckless Pedestrians Betting Their Lives

So many of them expect the motorist to stop on a dime, have that "I don't care" attitude, dare the reckless driver whenever it suits them.

Some get away with it. Others pay bitterly with their lives. No matter how carefully motorists go about their business, they can't always spot the pedestrians who tempt the hand of death.

Children doing the impulsive in traffic probably can be excused because of their age. But what about the countless adults who go in for the same foolhardy practices? Seem that some of them never grow up. And, sad to say, these set a bad example for our young ones who spontaneously imitate what they see.

Four pitfalls in particular lead to the majority of pedestrian accidents. To avoid placing your life in jeopardy, never give in to the impulse to try even one out of these four:

1. Improper crossing at intersections.
2. Darting out from between parked cars.
3. Jaywalking.
4. Careless walking on the roadway.

Why Bike Taken

PRETORIA, South Africa (AP) — Izak Petrus Cornelius van der Walt, 18, was sentenced to six cuts with a light cane here for riding a motorcycle without its owner's permission. Van der Walt told the court he hadn't stolen the bike. He only borrowed it to go to Durban, 400 miles away, to fetch money so he could go to a drive-in cinema in Pretoria.

Steering Change May Hint Trouble

All of a sudden the driver no longer finds steering his car a breeze. Now he has to sweat it, to increase the energy required. Something must be wrong.

Should your car show a change in steering qualities, the prime suspect behind this is misalignment of the front wheels.

What causes this misalignment? Bumping a front wheel against a curb or just the normal battering of the wheels on a typical road can do it, can bring about misalignment, one of the greatest enemies of easy steering — and of long tire life.

SHOWCAR ENTRY — The 1970 Dodge Super Charger has been displayed at recent auto shows throughout the country. A topless two-seat roadster, its forward deck is moulded into a tapered nose cone. The engine is a 440-cubic inch Magnum.

HIGHER COMFORT LEVEL — Dodge Polara for 1970 features interior and exterior styling improvements and quieter and easier ride. Front end has been lengthened three inches and the rear end has been shortened four inches. Loop bumpers surround the grille and tail lights.

THE DUDE — This optional sports stripe package has been developed by Dodge to accentuate the sleek styling of its D-100 and D-200 pickups. A choice of five new exterior colors is available. Wheel trim rings and hub caps are 15-inch bright passenger car type.

Other Nations Follow U.S. In Commercial Car Policy

Nations throughout the world are following the lead of the United States in expanding the use of commercial vehicles to spur the growth of their economies.

Figures from the Automobile Manufacturers Association show that the U.S. commercial vehicle registrations increased 600 percent from 1925 to a total of 18,142,000 units last year. (In the U.S. 98 percent of commercial vehicles are motor trucks, the remainder are buses.)

In the comparable period, the rest of the world increased its number of commercial vehicles by approximately 2,900 percent. In 1925, the U.S. had nearly three quarters of the world's commercial vehicles.

By 1950, the rapid rise abroad brought the balance to approximately 50-50.

Since then U.S. truck and bus registrations have risen from slightly over 8.8 million to more than 17 million but meanwhile the reliance aboard on commercial vehicles has grown so sharply that the foreign share is approximately two-thirds of the world total.

One out of every 10 automobiles in the United States is registered in California.

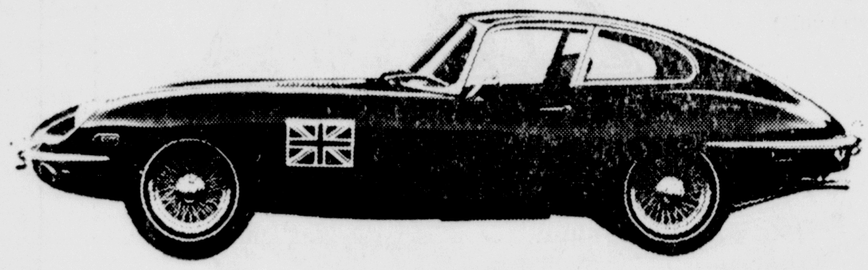

B.F. Goodrich Develops First Inflatable Jack

Development of what is called "the first practical inflatable rubber jack" for automobiles has been reported by B. F. Goodrich Company.

It's a one-piece, tureen-shaped unit that weighs only two and a half pounds; when deflated its three inches high and 13 inches in diameter. It is reported to be safer and easier to use than conventional metal jacks, since it has no parts to be assembled and requires very little physical effort to be activated.

The "Newmatic" can be inflated in less than a minute with a pressure bottle of air or gas, and in less than three minutes with an air pump.

Kitchen Cleanser Is Good Cleaning Tires

An ordinary kitchen cleanser, the kind the housewife keeps around the sink for pots and pans, is reported to be one of the most effective agents for removal of tar or other substances particularly difficult to get off car tires.

Mechanic's soap, which contains a mild abrasive, is another useful substance for this purpose.

Tire Inspection Key Step In Assuring Personal Safety

It would seem that too much emphasis is placed on tires being responsible for highway accidents.

Only one percent of such accidents do involve tires. More than half of the cases that do, however, can be traced directly to tires that have gone bald or that have been worn down to the cord.

All things being considered, you or anyone can become one of the minority, one who drives into an accident because of faulty tires. Tire inspection, therefore, proves to be an important step in guarding your personal safety.

For your own peace of mind, see that your tires get inspected on a regular basis. Tread wear, cuts, or other damages need to be caught immediately.

Then too, a competent mechanic has to do away quickly with certain things before they can lead to tire failure. Nails, small stones, or bits of glass embedded in the tread threaten of possible future flats or tire damage. Additional causative factors include previously damaged or abused tires.

Besides the above, tire valves also have to be in good condition, have to be equipped with valve caps. And rims or wheels enter the picture too, needing to be replaced if bent, loose, cracked, or otherwise damaged.

During the rotation of tires, an oil change, or car lubrication, that's about the best time for preventive tire maintenance.

FIFTH YEAR TORONADO

Oldsmobile's front wheel drive Toronado for 1970 reflects the most extensive change in appearance since its introduction in the fall of 1965. For the first time it is offered with a special performance option - a 400-horsepower engine with dual exhausts. Improvements in the valve rotating system and connecting rod bearings provides greater operating efficiency.

DELTA 88 ROYALE — Offered exclusively in a Holiday coupe body style, this model represents the top of Oldsmobile's 88 line and is identified by its vinyl top grille, front fender louvers and exterior ornamentation.

LUXURY LeBARON IMPERIAL

The 1970 Imperial has new front and rear styling, with massive grille, concealed headlights and new parking and cornering lamps. Both two-door and four-door hardtops are available in the Crown and LeBaron series.

Seasons Affect Choice Of Color

Weather and the time of year have quite an influence on you when you come to choose the color of your new car.

Go out to buy a car during the fall or winter months when skies are gray and days are dreary and you're more than apt to buy a car that is dark in color.

Go out to buy a car during the spring or summer months when the skies are blue and the days are bubbling and you're more than apt to buy something in the bright blues, grays, reds, yellows, or such.

This, according to the men who keep tab on such things, is the way the colors go.

COMPLETELY NEW PEUGEOT

Auto Air Conditioning Is Becoming Standard

This year may go down as the "coolest" yet for the automobile industry.

Americans, who as recently as 1960 ordered air conditioning for less than seven percent of their cars, now order it in more than 55 percent.

Statistics reflect that where air conditioning was primarily selected in medium to large luxury cars in the 1950-60 period, the 60's have seen the option spread throughout the market, from the luxury models to the compacts. Some models include air conditioning as standard equipment in their lines.

The first factory installation of air conditioning was offered by Packard in 1939. The 1969 production of 55.3 percent of the model run was for air conditioning installed at the factory. Units installed by dealers or accessory suppliers number in the hundred thousands each year.

Nine out of 10 traffic accidents happen in the driver's home state, says the National Automobile Club.

New Car Manual Can Save Buyers Lots Of Trouble

To a new driver, the owner's manual or guide that accompanies every new car from the dealer's showroom is a fascinating document filled with a seemingly endless flow of information.

But manufacturers are finding that many experienced drivers do not take full advantage of the weath of information contained in these books and too often end up in easily avoidable trouble because of it.

Readers of the manuals have ended up newly informed that instrument panel lights can be dimmed or brightened by turning the light switch, that pulling a lever releases the step-on parking brake, and that many cars have built-in compartments for litter or storage.

Dealers attempt to point out the value of this small book to new owners, but it seems like many of us are too anxious to drive our shiny new car to pay much attention.

The biggest culprit seems to be the driver who has owned a series of a particular make through the years and doesn't like to admit that he is unaware of the numerous improvements added each year.

1970 CHEVROLET HEADLINER

The Monto Carlo, new luxury car, features the longest hood ever produced by Chevrolet. There are many rich interior appointments and an optional automatic seat back latch unlocks folding seat backs whenever the door is opened. The Monte Carlo is built on a 116-inch wheel base and is none inches shorter in overall length than the Impala.

MALIBU SPORT SEDAN — This member of the Chevelle intermediate family has better brake performance this year from cooler-operating finned rear drums. Sculptured sides have a strong resemblance to the big Chevrolet.

Shoulder Belts Design Improved

On most of its 1970-model cars, Ford Motor Co. will offer a three-point restraint system that integrates the shoulder belt into the lap belt.

With the new system, the driver and far-side front passenger lap belts are self-adjusting and require only pull-out and attachment for use. The shoulder belt part of the system can be joined to the outboard end of the lap belt for quick and convenient use.

When properly adjusted with about three or four inches of slack for freedom of movement, the shoulder belt can be worn without discomfort to the neck or shoulder. The shoulder belt adjustment is not affected when the total system is released for exit by a simple one-hand push button operation.

Drivers Go Much Faster In The West

Motorists zip along highways in the wide-open spaces of the west much more speedily than in the congested east, a study of driving habits discloses.

While the study did not include all states it showed a definite trend toward more speed west of the Mississippi.

Average private car driving speed on straight sections of main rural roads, including segments of the Interstate Highway System, was highest in Kansas and Montana among the 27 states reporting last year — 66.6 miles per hour.

At the slower end of the scale was congested New Jersey, where the average passenger car speed on similar roads was 51.2 miles per hour. Also on the slower side were Pennsylvania, Virginia, New Hampshire and Maine.

The average speed is increasing each year, partly reflecting better roads, and better-engineered cars. The recent average of 60.4 mph for passenger cars compares with a World War II figure of less than 40 mph.

The study was conducted by 27 state highway departments and summarized by the Bureau of Public Roads. Some states with heavy automobile traffic — notably California and Texas — were not included.

CHEVROLET

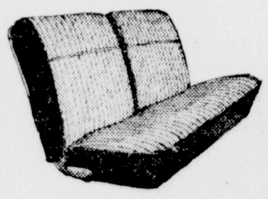

Can a car priced hundreds of dollars less than other personal luxury cars still be a personal luxury car? We're happy to let the evidence speak for itself.

They are. For a very simple reason.
So they turned to our engineers, who came up with the single high-intensity unit you see here.
Beautiful.

Custom-fitted upholstery.

First, our seat makers support the cushions with the kind of "S" springs found in fine furniture. Next, they contour them so you'll sit in, not on, the seat. And lastly, they fit each cushion with luxurious pattern cloth, or custom-knit cloth and vinyl.

Expensive-looking? Sure.
But then what part of Monte Carlo isn't?

Give Monte Carlo a chance, and it'll pamper you. Its carpeting, for example, is worthy of decorating your living room. So we spread it from front to back. Door to door. Even up the door a bit, like the expensive personal cars do.

Standard 250-hp 350 V8.

Leave it to a car like Monte Carlo to give you high performance without high octane. That's right, its standard 250-horsepower 350-cubic-inch V8 runs on regular gas.
But if you have more engine in mind, order one of these: A 300-hp 350, A 265-hp 400. Or our 360-hp 454 SS package.

Astro Ventilation.

Outside air enters through vent-ports in the instrument panel. Circulates. Then exits through special relief-valves.
So you ride refreshed. And more quietly because the windows can remain up.

Full Coil suspension.

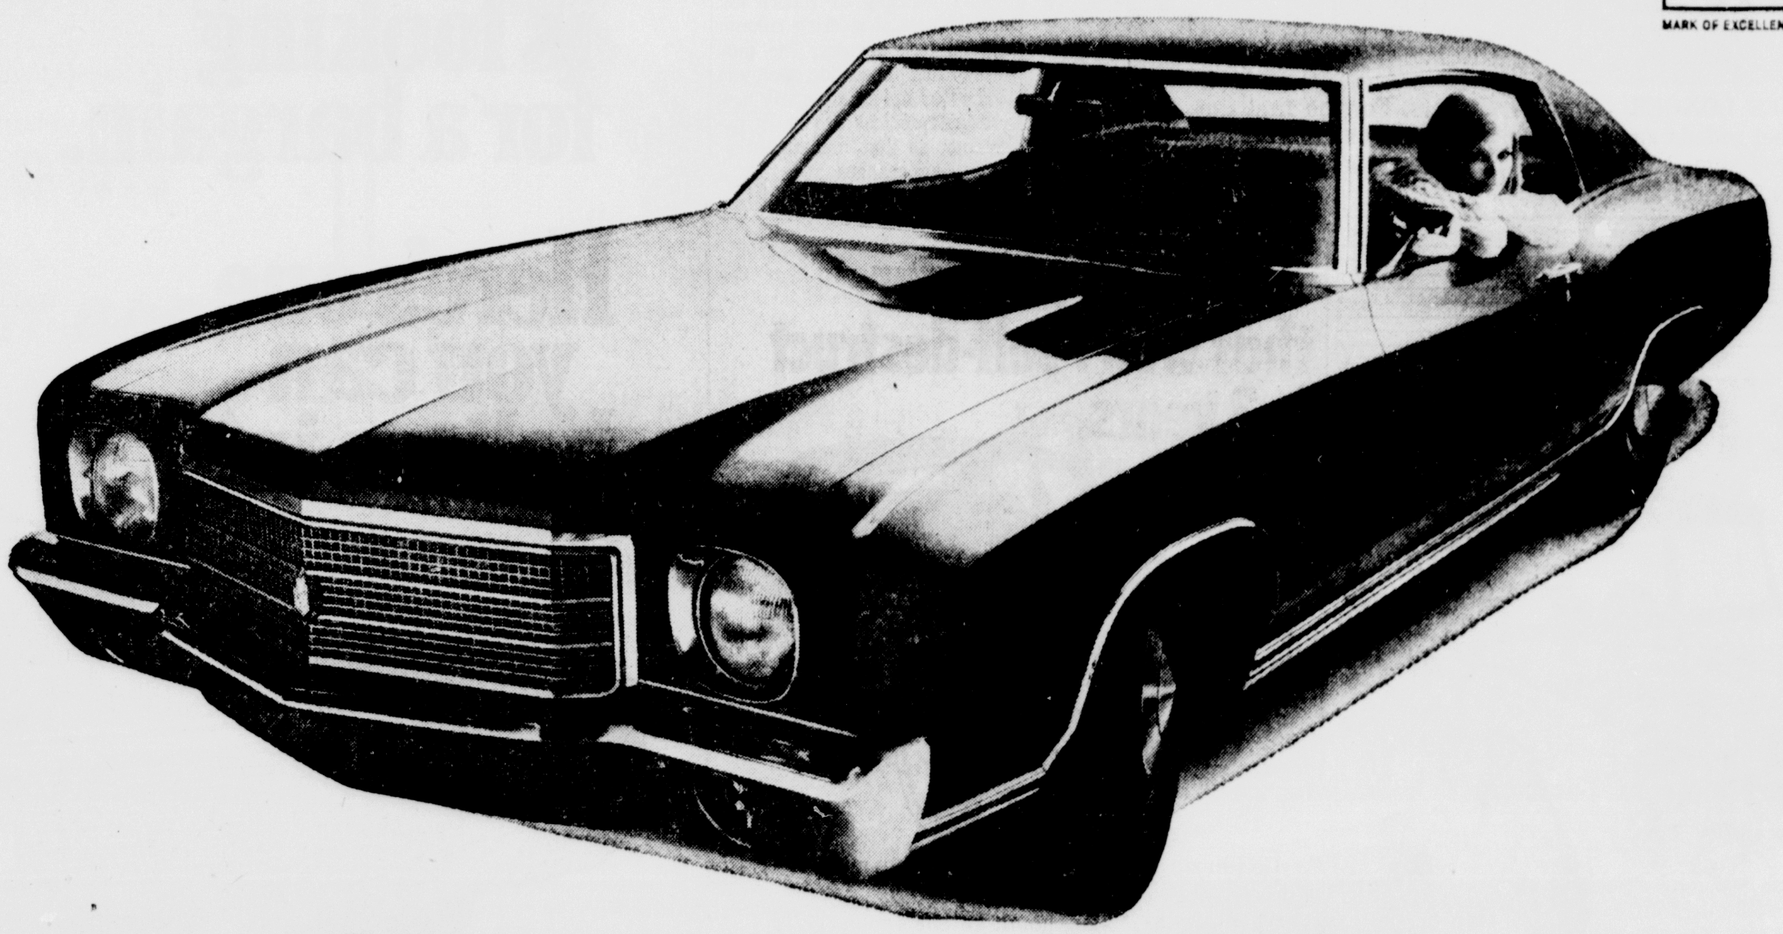

We put a big coil spring at each wheel. One that's been especially selected to correspond with the body and equipment weight of your Monte Carlo.
Which means you don't ride too soft.
Or too hard.

And so are a lot of Monte Carlo's other features. Like a precision cast grille. Concealed wiper blades. An electric clock.
The only feature that doesn't? $3123*.

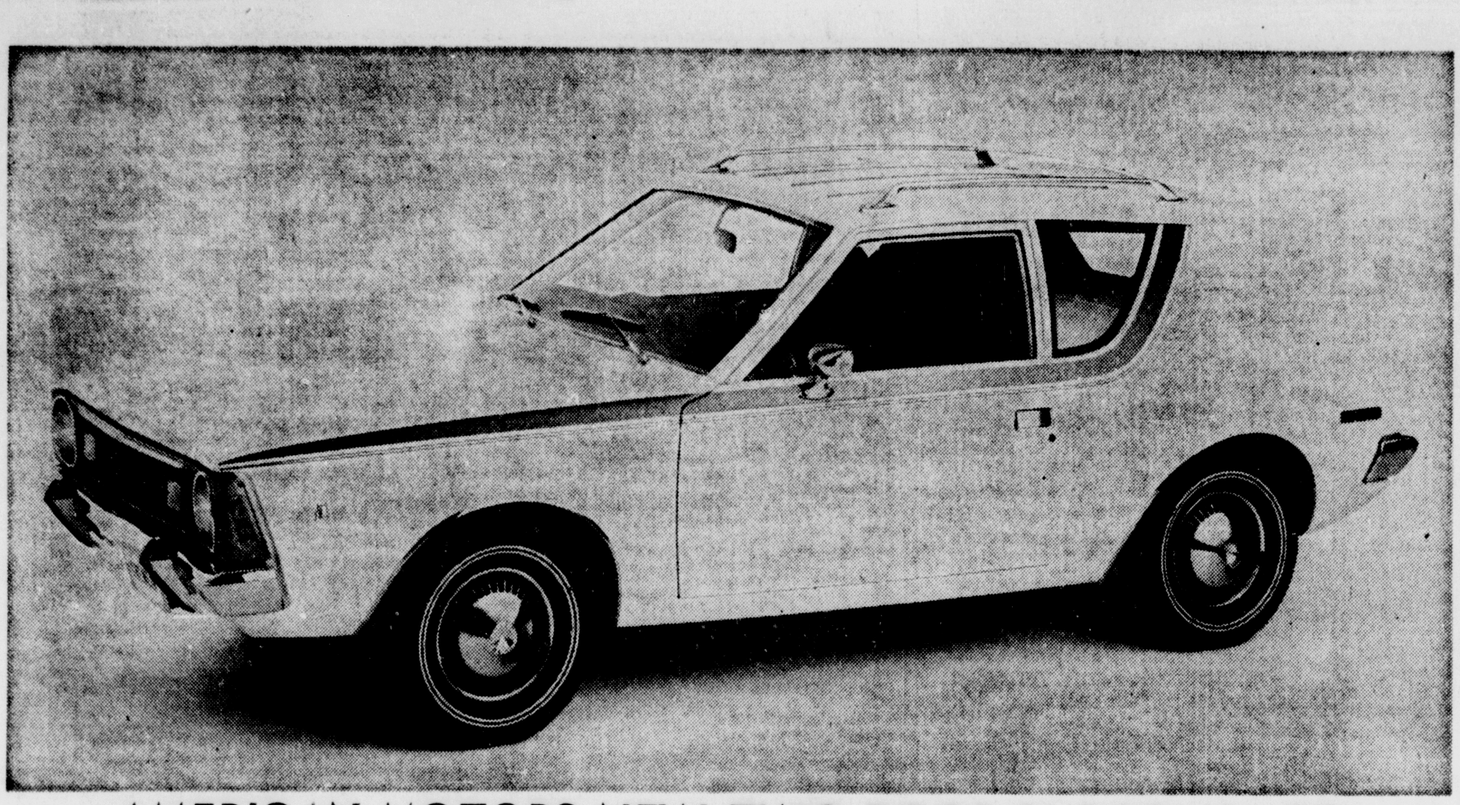

Putting you first, keeps us first.

AMERICAN MOTORS NEW TWO-DOOR SUBCOMPACT

The Gremlin was designed to compete head-on with the popular small imported cars but is slightly larger inside. Powered by a standard 199-cubic inch six-cylinder engine or an optional 232-cubic inch six, the car measures slightly more than 161 inches overall.

MGB/GT FASTBACK TOURER

The 1970 model departs from the standard chrome ornamentation in favor of all black recessed grilles. Safety features include new head restraints and anti-glare rear view mirror. A four-cylinder, 92-horsepower engine delivers power through a synchromesh four-speed transmission with short throw stick.

AMBASSADOR STATION WAGON - A new roof panel is among the 1970 refinements offered in this model. Longer roof-top luggage racks are standard on all station wagons. Five engines and three transmissions are available on the Ambassador.

Female Drivers Gain On Males

As you drive on a public street or highway, you might get the impression that more ladies "man" the wheel nowadays.

You're not off base either. Things have changed since 1950 when only 15 million women in the United States were authorized to drive cars.

Road Repairs

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The state will spend more than $20 million this year to repair highway damage caused by severe winter weather. The annual expenditure usually is nearer $2.5 million and a winter is considered extreme when the repair figure reaches $5 million, said Bruce Hadley, director of public affairs in the Department of Highways.

CADILLAC'S MOST ELEGANT CAR

The 1970 Fleetwood brougham is distinguished by its padded cross grain roof, strong design, horizontal chrome trim and wrap-around parking lamps. New side moldings with vinyl inserts color keyed to the vinyl roofs add accent to the length and give added protection to the door panel finish.

TWO INCHES LONGER — Intermediate Rebel sedans and hardtops have been redesigned to accommodate new roof panels and rear fenders. For the first time Rebel SST models are available with a 325-horsepower four-barrel V-8 engine.

Old Dobbin Still Good For A Trade

Now wouldn't it be "loverly" to offer any trade-in you care to on a used car and have that trade-in accepted?

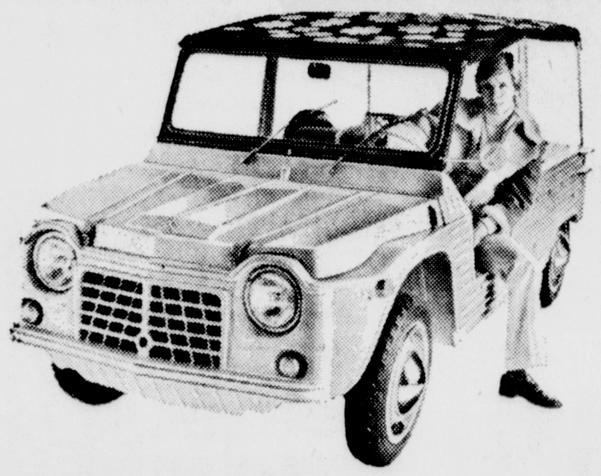

There are some used car dealers who don't just boast they'll accept anything.

Take the dealer in England who recently accepted a two-tone Saint Bernard, a watch, and the equivalent of $14 in cash for a 1962 used car.

And what did a dealer in Omaha get in return for his 1964 used car? None other than a horse.

A survey program is currently underway in which the police are cooperating with the automobile industry to report the effectiveness of steering column ignition lock devices. The purpose of this nationwide survey is to determine precisely how anti-theft devices are being overcome, so that manufacturers can make changes and stay a step or two ahead of the thief.

The Third Car.

The Mehari by Citroen could be the answer to your hunting, fishing, camping getaway dreams. (And it's a great fun car for the kids, too.)

It's loaded with features that will make your 1st car a little jealous: It can't scratch, dent or rust. Because it's made of Borg Warner's Cycolac ABS plastic.

On the inside, it's all Citroen: You get a factory guarantee. A car engineered to carry 880 lbs. Front wheel drive. A 4-speed full synchro transmission. An air cooled engine that can get you going to your fun at up to 70 mph. With 40-plus mpg economy.

Mehari by Citroen. The 3rd car. It makes a lot of sense. Take care of it, and it will probably outlast your 1st and 2nd cars. Think about it.

LeSabre Custom

What makes the Buick LeSabres we sell such bargains?

We're dealing, for one thing. Spring is here and we're making up for lost time during those cold winter months when everybody stayed home by the fire.

What about the car? Can you believe in it?

You can even order a 350 cubic-inch, V8. With four-barrel carburetion. That delivers 285 horsepower. Yet runs on regular gas.

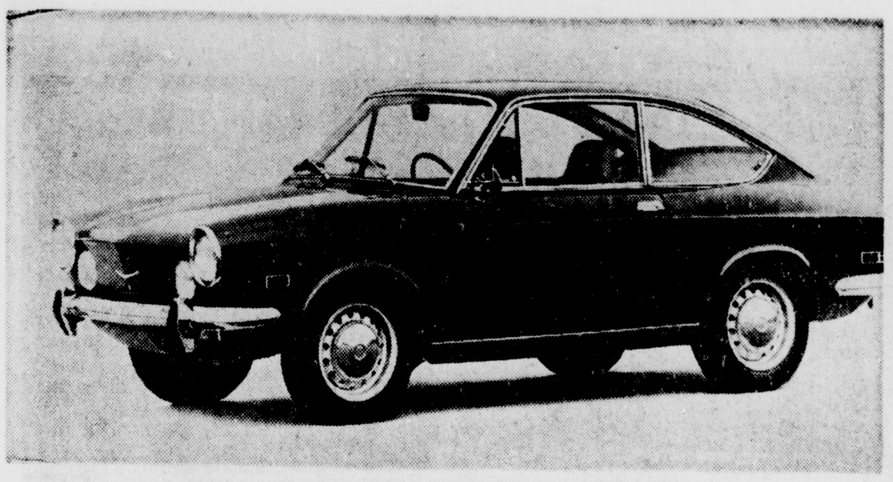

So, let's put it this way. If you want a bargain, we've got the ingredients. The car. And the deal.

Over 108 Million Carry Drivers Licenses In U.S.

There are more licensed drivers in the United States today than there were people in the nation in 1921.

The number of licensed drivers, according to the United States Bureau of Public Roads, was approximately 108,800,000 at the end of 1969. The population forty-eight years ago totaled about 108,541,000.

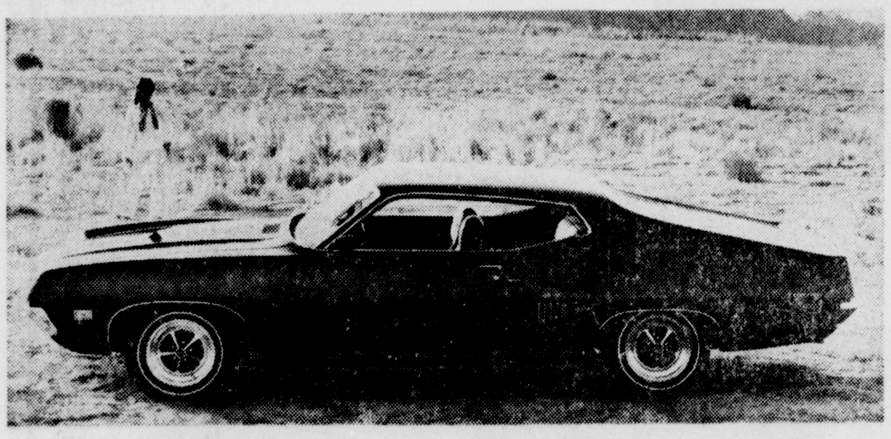

The largest single group of drivers today is the 20 to 24 age group. This category represents 12.4 percent of the total number of licensed drivers. Drivers in the 25 to 29 age group comprise 11.1 percent of the total. These are followed by the 40 to 44 age group with 10.3 percent and the 35 to 39 age group with 10 percent.

Kansas has the highest percentage of women drivers, 46.4 percent. It is followed by Arizona and New Mexico, each with 45.5 percent. The District of Columbia has the lowest percentage of women drivers, 36.6 percent.

REDESIGNED — The 1970 Ford Mustang, new in front and rear, offers bold colors and optional patterned upholstery. This Mach I model is "tough" in looks and performance with lower back panel applique and a new four-barrel engine as standard equipment.

TORINO HAS 13 MODELS — The four-door hardtop (top) for the first time is offered in the Torino and Torino Brougham series. Torino GT Sports Roof (above) is available with seven engines from the standard 302 V-8 to the 429 Cobra Jet V-8.

106 Million U. S. Drivers Are Licensed

Licensed drivers in the United States now total nearly 106 million, according to estimates released by the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads.

The record total of 105,700,000 drivers almost equals the total number of U. S. inhabitants in 1920 when the population was 105,710,000.

The largest group of drivers is between the ages of 20 and 24, which accounts for 12 per cent of the nation's total. Drivers in the 25 to 29 age group comprise 10.8 per cent of the total, followed by the 40 to 44 age group with 10.4 per cent and the 35 to 39 age group with 10.3.

The District of Columbia has the highest ratio of licensed drivers to private motor vehicles with 1.44 drivers per vehicle. New York is second with a ratio of 1.33, followed by Massachusetts with 1.27 and Connecticut with 1.24 drivers per motor vehicle.

Tow Chain Best For Safe Start

Using a tow chain is safer than pushing, and can prevent damage to your car. It usually saves time too, and can prevent physical injury if the alternative is pushing by hand.

Why is a tow chain safer? Basically, because the driver of the car with power is out in front, where he has a clear view of the road and all possible approaching dangers. With modern transmissions, speeds over 30 miles per hour are necessary to kick over the engine, much too fast for a driver with obscured vision. The towed driver is safer too, because the 10 or 12 foot chain gives him more leeway and reaction time, and eliminates those jarring bumps that can cause a loss of control.

You save dollars too, because pushing a modern car usully results in damage to lights, trim, or sheet metal. The chains are easy to attach and store. In snowy, cold weather, they are apt to be used regularly.

Wiper Blades Weather Too

In time the rubber will harden and become brittle. If it does not actually chip when in this condition, it will fail to do a smooth job of clearing ADDED TRUNK SPACE—Both the squareback above and the fastback Volkswagens were lengthened over four inches this year to increase the capacity of their front-end trunks about 25 per cent. Front and rear bumpers were also moved higher off the ground.

Little Car Business Is Big Business For Model Firms

The little car business is big business for model car companies. Miniature or model car sales are expected to exceed 20 million models this year—more than double the estimates for full-size production.

Among the model makers' best customers are the manufacturers of full size cars who use the models in various sales promotion and related activities.

However, about 85 per cent of the model car output goes to individuals who are hooked on the model making hobby. Although production of miniature models follows year-to-year changes closely, a good part of the model car output is in antique, classic and performance or hot rod type cars.

For instance, several 1957 model cars are high on the demand list, as are several models from the 30s which have built reputations on race tracks and drag strips.

Model makers attribute this to the tastes of their most numerous customers—young men from the ages of 9 to 17. There is also a growing segment of production devoted to miniature space hardware—with the same meticulous attention to detail required by the customers.

Massive bumpers are a big hit. Fins are in. And everyone's promising to "keep in style with the times."

But then, times changed.

Why?

Well you see, back in '49, when all those other guys were worrying about how to improve the way their cars looked, we were worrying about how to improve the way ours worked.

And you know what?

2,200 improvements later, we still worry about the same thing.

14,000,000 CARS LATER

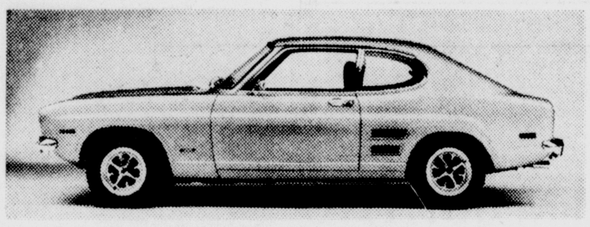

Cars have changed dramatically since Buick turned out its millionth car during the Roaring Twenties—but apparently not the height of miniskirts, as evidenced by the "flapper" posed with a 1923 model. Car at the left, a 1970 Skylark, is Buick's 15 millionth since the motor company moved to Flint, Mich., in 1903.

About 237 solar eclipses occur each century.

PONTIAC'S LOWEST PRICED HARDTOP

The new Tempest T-37 is built on a 112-inch wheelbase. Standard engine is a 250-cubic inch six-cylinder rated at 155 horsepower. Transmission is three-speed, manual. A long list of options includes two V-8 engins automatic transmission, power steering and power brakes.

EUROPEAN BUILT FORD CAPRI

Introduced through Lincoln-Mercury dealers is this new car by Ford of Europe. It has a 167.8-inch wheelbase and develops 71 horsepower.

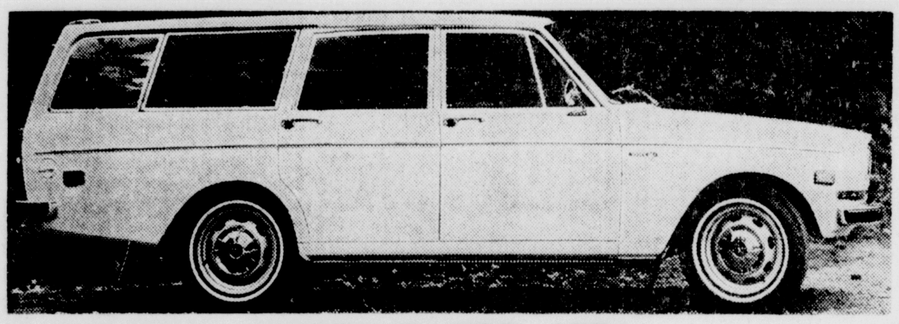

Travelers Chalk Up One Trillion Miles Last Year

Breaking all records, Americans did just that last year. Down to the brass tacks of it, this astounding mileage rolled up on our nation's highways would take us around the earth 40 million times.

To top the one-trillion mark, drivers used approximately 81 billion gallons of motor fuel, paid more than $8.5 billion in special state and federal taxes on the fuel.

And California came out ahead of all the states in motor fuel consumption, using nearly 8.7 billion gallons. Texas got a slight edge over New York for second place with more than 5.5 billion gallons. New York consumed nearly 5.2 billion gallons.

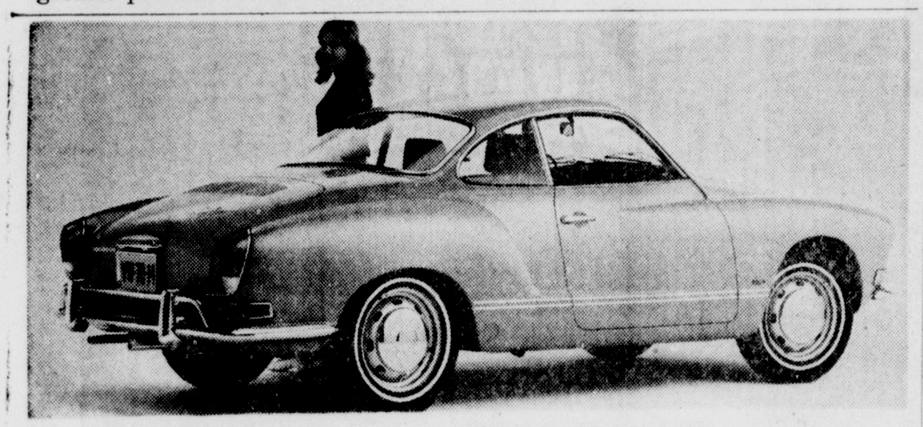

LARGE CARGO AREA

When the rear seat is turned down Volvo's 145 station wagon boasts 70 cubic feet for stowage. With the seat in place, the 154 is similar to the 144 sedan.

DART HAS LONGER LOOK

Dart accounted for 30 per cent of all Dodge sales last year. With a longer, lower look it shows even greater promise for 1970. The Dart lineup offers three series and four different engine choices, including Dodge's new 198-cubic inch Slant Six.

GHIA HAS LARGER ENGINE

Horsepower for the Karmann Ghia is 57 this year, compared to last year's 53. Result is greater response and more rapid acceleration for passing. This low-slung Volkswagen model is available either as a

ALL-NEW PLYMOUTH SERIES

New to the Plymouth Barracuda line for 1970 is the high-performance 'Cuda series. Standard engine has 383 cubic inches displacement with a four-barrel carburetor. All Plymouth high-performance engines are optional. Standard features include heavy-duty suspension and 11-inch brakes.

NEW PLYMOUTH DUSTER—This two-door coupe has been added to the Plymouth Valiant line for 1970, in different styling from the standard Valiant four-door sedan. Standard engine is a new 198-cubic inch six which compromises fuel economy with performance.

SPORT FURY GT—This two-door hardtop is one of the new top-of-the-line Plymouth Fury models—a standard size performance car with a 400-cubic inch V-8 engine. Also new in the line are the S-23 model and a special Brougham package.

Old List Of Pointers Is Still Good Today

For the benefit of all on the road, lists of driving "don'ts," come and go by the thousands. How does this one grab you? Should it stay with us?

Don't ask someone close to you, like your husband, father, or brother, to teach you how to drive. Tempers often flare in such a situation. A non-relative proves a better teacher.

Don't forget to include among your safety accessories an eyecup and a bottle of boric acid solution, both of great help in case of cinders and dirt.

Any driver in Denver, Colo., who lets three parking tickets go unpaid risks finding a massive, three-part lock clamped on one of his car's front wheels. Extending from the hubcap to the tire like a 12-pound nutcracker, the lock prevents the car from being driven until its owner settles with the police department.

Julian, Calif., celebrates Mother's Day for 16 straight days by sponsoring a Wild Flower Festival. As many as 2,500 flowers decorate the streets during the event.

THINGS ARE TOUGH ALL OVER.

Fortunately so are Volvos.

Volvos are so tough, in fact, that 9 out of every 10 registered here in the last eleven years are still on the road.
